Three Nazis Arrested Attempting To Drive Through Cemetery Gate

CULPEPER, Va. (UPI) — Followers of George Lincoln Rockwell, slain American Nazi leader, were barred today from burying him in a military cemetery when they refused to take off swastika armbands. Three of them were arrested when they tried to force their way onto the premises.

The grotesque impasse developed when the Nazi adherents arrived at the cemetery gates wearing their storm trooper uniforms in defiance of warnings by Defense Department officials that the swastikas could not be worn at the burial services.

Military police rushed to Culpeper by helicopter and bus from Ft. Belvoir, Va., aligned themselves at the entry of the military burying ground.

The Rockwell adherents were told they could not enter as long as they flaunted the red, white and black swastika armbands made notorious in the days of Hitler.

A commotion then broke out when three of the American Nazi Party members —using Rockwell's hearse as a spearhead —sought to push by the 14 MP's standing at parade rest at the entryway.

Others in the funeral party began to follow but the effort to break through ended when the three leaders were taken in custody by a U. S. marshal.

Another Rockwell adherent — a GI on active duty —was taken into custody by the military police for questioning. He identified himself as a former member of the Nazi movement.

The episode began when the hearse bearing Rockwell's body arrived at the century-old cemetery at about 10:30 a. m.

His adherents had been told that the former Navy flier could be buried in the military grounds as long as the services were not offensive to the kin of other servicemen buried there. That meant no armbands or other Nazi symbols for Rockwell, who was shot to death in Arlington, Va., Friday.

After the unsuccessful effort to force entry, the Nazis continued to mill about outside the cemetery grounds, yelling protests and singing the party anthem: "We March, We Fight."

The hearse remained standing for more than two hours near the cemetery entrance.

Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner, head of the army's military police, led the detachment of MP's sent to the scene. Asked how long he would maintain the barrier at the entrance, Turner commented: "Time means nothing to me."

There were no signs of a break in the deadlock as the day went on and no signs that

$2,500 Paid Sculptor In Beating Claim

Marinwood Man Also Asserted A False Arrest

The City of San Rafael's insurance carrier has paid a Marinwood sculptor $2,250 as a result of his claim that he was falsely arrested and beaten by two policemen outside the Bermuda Palms Motel last Sept. 3.

Roy Wilkie Jr., representing the city's insurance agent, said today the Continental Insurance Co. paid the sum to Alexander Y. Watson in April.

Wilkie said the settlement was reached after the city council rejected Watson's claim for $25,000 las year against Patrolmen Kenneth R. Homen, Raymond L. Mayndard and the city.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said it could not be inferred from the action that the city was admitting guilt in the case.

"We have no voice in the decisions of our insurance company," he said. "It looks to me as if the company wanted to avoid higher court costs."

Wilkie said notice of the settlement was mailed to the city April 20, but Andersen was unable to find the letter.

Asked whether disciplinary action might be taken against

U.C. Regents Readying Fee Decision

LOS ANGELES (UPI)— Gov. Ronald Reagan lays his prestige on the line Thursday when the University of California Board of Regents meets to consider his proposal to break the university's 100-year tradition of free tuition.

The governor wants to charge California residents $250-a-year tuition with half of the money to be earmarked for increased financial assistance to needy students.

The governor said his "equal education plan" would help more students from low-income families enter the university. He said UC now caters mostly to students from white middle class homes.

The regents have been reluctant to add a tuition charge to the UC students fees which now average $250 a year.

Reagan wants to start charging tuition in September.

The board's decision probably will indirectly affect the 18-campus state college system in addition to the nine-campus university. The governor has said he will ask the legislature to impose a $150-a-year tuition at the state colleges if the regents approve his plan for UC.

A report by Acting University President Harry Wellman, mailed to the regents in advance of the meeting, shows that if the governor's plan is approved, UC will become one of the most expensive public universities in the nation. It is now one of the least expensive.

Reagan wants to use half of the tuition revenue to finance loans and grants.

The other half of the money would be used for building construction and to improve the teaching faculty.

Committee Approves Anti-Poverty Money

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Labor Committee today approved a $5.5 billion bill to finance the fight against poverty, including a $2.8 billion emergency job program for the ghettos opposed by the Administration.

Sent to the Senate floor was a bill carrying $2.26 billion to finance the Office of Economic Opportunity, a total of $198 million more than requested by the Administration.

San Rafael Youth, 16, Admits Arson Spree

Damage Put At $82,000

A 16-year-old San Rafael youth, described by sheriff's officers as frustrated because he can't get along with people, has admitted a several-months-long grass and building arson spree, causing over $82,000 damage.

Sheriff's Inspector Harvey Teague, juvenile bureau head, said the boy confessed setting fires including the $55,000 blaze which gutted a four-classroom wing of Temple Rodef Sholom School on Feb. 18; a $10,000 fire at Catholic Social Service of Marin County Feb. 19; the $15,000 fire which destroyed the office of Faith Lutheran Church in San Rafael April 15; and a $2200 flame at Merrydale Apartments, San Rafael Meadows, on March 28.

70 ACRES

He said the youth also admitted setting a blaze which burned 70 acres of grassland on Quail Hill, San Rafael; a grass fire behind Tweedie's General Store, Santa Venetia; another behind John MacPhail School, Santa Venetia; and five small grass fires along China Camp Road.

Teague said the youth filled a wasterpaper basket with paper inside the Catholic service building, 179 Los Ranchitos Road, Los Ranchitos, then ignited it. File cabinets were also rifled in the offices.

FILLED WASTEBASKET

The Temple Rodef at 170 San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia, was burned by also filling a wastepaper basket with paper, then igniting it, said Teague. He said the youth said he entered a tool shed at Merrydale Apartments, spread gasoline around, then trailed the spilled gasoline outside the building and dropped a lighted match to it.

Teague said the youth had an established procedure for setting grass fires, putting a lighted cigarette into a book of safety matches. He would then drop the book into grass and depart, Teague said.

When the cigarette burned to the matches, it would ignite them, causing a flare and starting grass to burn. The youth apparently never stayed at the fire scenes, the officer

Shirley Temple To Be Candidate

SAN MATEO (UPI)—Former child movie star Shirley Temple today announced her candidacy for Congress.

"This is a step I did not take lightly," the brunette beauty told a jammed news conference. "I will campaign for Congress."

More than 100 newsmen crowded into the conference room where Shirley appeared before 16 television cameras and 22 microhpones.

"It will be an uphill effort," she said. "I'm getting a late start. There are nine men already in the race."

The dimpled darling of such films as "Heidi," "The Good Ship Lollipop," and "The Little Colonel," will square off against her male opponents in a special election Nov. 14 to choose a successor to the late Republican Rep. J. Arthur Younger of San Mateo County.

The 39-year-old former actress has long been active in the Republican Party. Her husband, electronics executive Charles Black of Atherton, is one of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan's dollar-a-year special adviser.

Shirley criticized the Democratic administration as unprogressive and bogged down in the Vietnam War. She also said taxes were "stifling individuals."

Shirley said the slogan for her campaign is: "All the way with LBJ has gotten us in the shape we are in today."

She also insisted that "little Shirley Temple is not running."

"If someone insists on pinning me with a label make it read, Shirley Temple Black, Republican Independent," she said.

A successful campaign by Miss Temple would place her in the company of two other former Hollywood stars now holding high Republican office in California, Reagan and U.S. Sen. George Murphy.

Bruce's Job Secure After Closed Session

County Administrator Alan Bruce, 44, emerged from an hour-and-20-minute closed session with the Marin County Board of Supervisors still secure in his job.

Supervisor Chairman Thomas T. Storer said the board expressed "unanimous confidence in his ability." Storer indicated that the main topic of conversation was the function of the administrator's office and his statements and actions covering "a period of at least 20 months."

Storer conceded that the discussion was critical of some of Bruce's statements. "There was no question that this meeting was within the provisions of the Brown Act," said Storer.

Since there was no discussion of dismissing Bruce, the only other permissable reason for the closed session would be to hear complaints of charges.

Storer did not say so specially, when asked whether that had been the reason for the executive session. He merely reiterated that the Brown Act was observed.

Storer declined to specify the actions or statements of Bruce which the supervisors criticized.

"It was very friendly session," said Storer. "There was no question about any dismissal."

Bruce came out tight lipped and said he had no comment. But he agreed with Storer that the question of dismissal never came up. When asked whether he has any intention of resigning, Bruce replied with a terse "no."

Auto Industry Terms Union Contract Offer Best Ever

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry today offered the United Auto Workers Union what one company termed its best contract package ever, but asked the union to cut back on some key provisions won in previous years.

A union spokesman said there would be no comment immediately on the united front presented by General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., and Chrysler Corp.

The union, however, was expected to reject the proposals, first answer made by the companies to demands that the union itself has called its most ambitious in 30 years of industry bargaining.

The industry economic offers, based on a proposed three-year contract, come after two months of bargaining and with only eigh days remaining before a strike deadline.

Contracts covering 650,000 workers at the Big Three expire at midnight Sept. 6 although only the company selected by the union as a pattern setter would be struck.

The three companies estimated their package at 33 to 51 cents an hour over the next three years, including a flat 13-cent-an-hour hike now and 2.8 per cent a year in the following two years.

All three, however, asked the union to modify a cost-of-living escalator clause based on the government cost-of-living index which has brought union members increases of 18 cents an hour since 1964.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther has said he would brook no tampering with the clause and that an attempt to change would be a strikeable issue.

The industry also offered the union an increase of from 62 per cent to 80 per cent in the supplemental unemployment benefits — the benefits that supplement a laid-off worker's state unemployment compensation.

This apparently was far short of the demand made by the union for a complete guaranteed annual income.

Louis G. Seaton of General Motors called his firm's offer the best it has ever made.

Malcolm Denise, chief bargainer at Ford, termed his company's package "responsive and responsible."

Music, Dancing For Anniversary

The San Anselmo 60th Anniversary Committee last night continued planning for the city's celebration Sept. 25 through Oct. 1.

First day plans include a band concert, followed by a rock 'n' roll "battle of the bands" and a street dance, the opening of a carnival at Memorial Park and the start of a five-day sale downtwon.

Other events planned include historical displays throughout the downtown area, a queen contest and an essay contest in elementary schools, and transportation by cable car throughout the carnival.

Search Still On For Sky Divers

HURON, Ohio (AP)—"It was really quite a nightmare," said Robert Coy, one of two known survivors of the worst sky diving accident in history.

"It still seems like a bad dream. Maybe it was, and I'll wake up pretty soon and find out it didn't happen."

Coy, from Springfield, Ohio, held onto a slim hope that some of his 14 fellow Ohio parachutists missing in Lake Erie would be found alive.

But Coast Guard officials and others feared there was little chance they could survive this long in the murky waters.

Eighteen men and women jumped. Two survived; two bodies were recovered.

$1.4 Million Price Tag Put On Mill Valley's New Look

A $1.4 million price tag, in 1967 dollars, was placed last night on development plans for Mill Valley's commercial areas and development of the downtown creek, Arroyo Corte Madera Del Presidio.

Planning cousultant Thomas Cooke, who drew up the federally-backed "701" plan report, presented the figures at the planning commission's first public hearing on the plan last night.

HIGH PRIORITY

Highest priority was for development of Lytton Square, the downtown core, with an estimated cost of $179,000.

The square would retain its compact size, serving as a center for professional office activities, for specialty shops and as a community shopping center.

Upper Miller Avenue near the square would be steered toward apartments and professional-administrative use. Lower Miller Avenue would develop into commercial, motel and highway-oriented uses, and professional-administrative use.

The Alto area would be developed by market factors as much as by planning, Cooke said. Acceptable uses in the plan included retail sales, professional services, apartments, car sales, motels, restaurants and gas stations.

OTHER PROJECTS

Estimated cost for other major projects included $103,350 for the park-like development of Corte Madera Creek, $68,600 or more for expansion of the Civic Center across the creek.

On Miller Avenue, costs are estimated at $185,500 for the section from Willow Lane to Reed Street, $147,200 from Reed to Forrest Street, and $199,800 from Reed to Camino Alto.

An estimated $212,900 would be spent to extend Madrona Avenue as a key link in the downtown traffic pattern.

Proposed improvements would be financed by a wide variety of sources, Cooke said. They include various city funds, assessment districts, state and county taxes, revenue bonds, and several types of federal grants and loans available under planning and renewal programs.

There were few questions from the audience of 50. Bragdon explained that each part of the plan will be discussed in detail at future hearings.

Marijuana Link In Addict Chain

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — What makes a heroin addict? Both marijuana use and delinquency are positive links in the chain, say sociologists who studied 2,213 addicts at the Lexington and Fort Worth federal hospitals.

"Among metropolitan residents from the high addiction eastern and western states, opiate (heroin) use was commonly preceded by the smoking of marijuana cigarettes and arrest," the study team reported today at the annual meeting of the American Sociological Association.

They said marijuana is used because it produces a "high" and, like heroin, it is available only from underworld sources of supply. Both are illegal.

16 Jets Lost Last Week: A War Record

SAIGON (UPI) —The United States today disclosed it lost a record 16 bombers attacking North Vietnam last week. Communist reports said American planes today were striking in "MIG alley" where most of the lost jets fell.

U.S. spokesmen, who earlier had announced the loss of 15 planes last week, today said a 16th—a super-sophisticated Marine Intruder jet—was shot down. It made last week the costliest seven days of air war since American planes began raiding North Vietnam three years ago.

From Hanoi the East German news service ADN reported American jets today streaked into "MIG alley" near Hanoi and Haiphong and within 40 miles of the Communist Chinese border—the heavily defended area where most of the 16 planes were hit.

The two crewmen of the Intruder were listed as missing. Of the 26 fliers who went down with the jets over North Vietnam last week, 22 were listed as missing and feared captured or dead. Four were rescued.

The previous record weekly loss of planes was 15 the week of May 14 to 20. The 16 losses brought to 663 the number of American planes shot down over North Vietnam.

In South Vietnam, North Vietnamese artillerymen unleashed one of the greatest barrages of the war gainst the necklace of Leatherneck fortres-

Experience, Cash Gained By Hitchhiker

NEWTON, Kan. (AP) — Mike Ryan is ending his summer $100 richer in cash and much richer in experience because he wanted to see Expo 67 at Montreal, Canada.

When school let out last spring, Ryan, 17, loaded a back pack, got himself a good pair of shoes, put $20 in his pocket and headed for Montreal—hitchhiking.

He worked at odd jobs all the way from a resort in Missouri to a farm in Vermont, met a French family in Montreal who put him up for two weeks and gave him a grand tour of the fair, and returned home via New York City where he visited a grandmother he had never seen.

When he arrived home, Ryan figured he had traveled 4,500 miles and said he had $120 in his pocket—savings from various jobs.

Long Jail Term For Marijuana

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Dark-haired Bonnie Jo Bilyeu, former managing editor of the San Diego State College newspaper, was sentenced yesterday to up to four years in federal prison for smuggling 44 pounds of marijuana across the international border from Tijuana, Mexico.

Miss Bilyeu

The 21-year-old onetime honor student was arrested Jan. 12. She pleaded guilty and was sent to Terminal Island Women's Institution for a two-month study by the facility's staff.

The staff recommended she be placed on probation, but U.S. District Judge James Carter said he felt the heavy sentence could serve to deter college students from using marijuana.

Miss Bilyeu's maximum term in prison would be four years, followed by two years on probation. There is no minimum prison time, however, and the parole board could order her release and place her on six years probation.

Chinese Fleeing

HONG KONG (AP) — Thousands of residents are fleeing from Canton, South China's largest city, and Chinese border troops have tightened their guard to prevent an exodus to Hong Kong, Chinese arriving from Canton reported today.

The Cantonese are fleeing because of almost continuous fighting between opponents and supporters of Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung as well as among the nominally pro-Mao Red Guards, travelers said. said.

Job Red Tape

LOS ANGELES (AP) — All that stood between job seekers and 25,000 jobs promised during a 19-hour "job-a-thon" telecast today were long lines and red tape.

The problem arose after State Employment Service offices, especially in Watts, were so jammed by prospective workers yesterday that the interviewers couldn't keep pace.

Communist Party Plan Uncovered

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Daily News says government security agencies have unearthed evidence of a Communist party scheme "to seize direction of the National Conference for New Politics as a vehicle for a new third political party."

In a Washington story in today's editions, the News said, "These agencies believe the Communists hope to turn the 'New Politics' movement into a political front as a successor to the defunct Progressive Labor party."

William F. Pepper, executive director of the national conference, replied in a statement that convention delegates will be accredited "only if they have been chosen democratically by a local constituent organization in an open meeting. Therefore, no single organization could possibly dominate the convention."

Designed to form a coalition of peace activists, the five-day convention opens Thursday in Chicago with Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. scheduled as keynote speaker.

Reagan's Top Aide Resigns; Draft Role?

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The resignation of Gov. Ronald Reagan's top aide today heightened speculation of a drive to draft the Republican governor as the GOP presidential candidate in next year's election.

Philip M. Battaglia, 32, the freshman governor's executive secretary and his 1966 campaign manager, announced yesterday he was resigning from his $24,000-a-year state post.

TO KEEP TIES

But, pointedly, he indicated he did not plan to sever his political ties with Reagan, already an announced "favorite son" candidate in the June, 1968, California presidential preferencel primary.

Although Reagan repeatedly has denied that he is a serious presidential candidate, he also has declined to remove his name from primary ballots in states where it requires a repudiation of presidential ambitions.

POLITICAL ROLE

As a result, his name may be entered in primaries in Oregon, Nebraska and Wisconsin. Reagan already has visited Oregon and Nebraska and plans a trip to Wisconsin next month during a three-day swing that also includes Illinois, his native state, and South Carolina.

Battaglia told a news conference he would not "just walk away" from politics in returning to his private law practice and said Reagan had indicated "he would like me to continue to assist him in various areas."

A newsman asked if he would like to see Reagan make a presidential bid next year.

PRAISES REAGAN

He hesitated and then said: "If he were to go (enter the race) and then be elected, I think he would do an outstanding job. My eight months of close association wih him have convinced me of that beyond any question of a doubt."

Battaglia was the third top Reagan aide to resign since the Republican administration took office in January.

Timberland In Oregon Still Afire

PORTLAND (UPI) — More than 100 lightning-started fires charred lush timberland in Oregon today and scores of wind-fanned blazes broke out anew in British Columbia.

The Pacific Northwest fire situation, which has blackened more than 150,000 acres in less than three weeks, was described as the worst in memory.

A lightning storm crackled through the Cascades in Westenr Oregon last night, tern Oregon Monday night, sparking the devastating blazes. State officials wired neighboring states for additional men and equipment.

In British Columbia, fire fighters thought they had a 25,000-acre blaze near Sushwap Lake under control when sudden winds sent sparks flying. They were forced to retreat, and the fire that had been burning a week resumed its rampage.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

The Swedish driver is seeing double these days—driving sign-wise that is. Old signs are standing firmly until the Swedes change their driving habits from the left hand side of the road to the right on Sept. 3. The new signs which will direct traffic over to the right, such as the one in the foregrounud, are supposed to be carefully covered with plastic. But curious fingers and troublesome breezes in Stockholm occasionally remove the plastic covers, leaving the driver in a quandry as to just which side of the street to drive on. (UPI Telephoto)

Use Permit Given For Inverness Home

Paul Baum won a use permit to build a one-family home on Pine Ridge Road in Inverness yesterday after ahearing before county zoning administrator Thomas E. Cordill.

The home will be on Pine Ridge Road about one-half mile southwest of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Cordill also approved the following:

Lawrence Olin's request to build garages on the front half of six lots on the south side of Reed Ranch Road near Corte Las Cases, Tiburon.

Herbert Nadai's request for a detached garage in the front half of his lot at 224 Seadrift Road, Stinson Beach.

Mary P. Bolles' request for a parking deck at 2398 Mar East Street, Tiburon.

Cordill took under submission Alfonzo Molina's request for an addition to an existing building on Lagunitas Road, just south of Mountain View Avenue, Lagunitas. The zoning administrator said he will give his decision after consulting further with the applicant and after receiving more information from the county sanitation department that the septic tank is adequate.

Jamming Of Rifles May Be Corrected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Marine Corps is acting to correct excessive jamming of the M-16 rifle, a lightweight, rapid-fire weapon extensively used in Vietnam, Gen. Wallace M. Greene, the corp's commandant said yesterday.

The modified weapon, he told a Senate unit, will use a new buffer mechanism. Its rifle chamber will be coated by monel, an alloy of nickel, copper and other metals. And the formula for powder used in cartridges fired in the rifle will be changed.

Tam Community Services District Does Not Exist

Asst. County Counsel Thomas Hendricks yesterday announced that the Tamalpais Community Services District does not, after all, exist yet no matter what was said about it before.

The district will be created and go into effect July 1, 1968. Meantime, what is essentially the same body will continue operations as the Tamalpais Sanitary District.

The community services district, approved July 11 by the district voters, was first believed to have been born July 13, when the board of directors was sworn in.

Then it was decided by the county counsel's office that the district became effective for operating purposes Aug. 10 when a certificate of filing was recorded with the county for tax purposes, it was to continue as a sanitary district until next July 1.

Greater Public, Parochial Schools Unity Is Sounded

A call for greater co-operation between public and parochial schools was sounded by Rev. Bernard Cummins, superintendent of schools of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of San Francisco, at the fall meeting yesterday of the Marin County School Administrations Association.

Father Cummins, former principal of Marin Catholic High School, pointed to several programs in which public and church schools have worked together, and urged there be more.

In particular, he urged that teaching about religion be included in the public schools — noting that this has been urged also by the American Association of School Administrators.

"Spiritual and religious illiteracy is rampant in our country today," he declared. "Moral and spiritual values of religion are necessary in the curricula of every school."

The Catholic educator, who heads schools operated by his church and its orders in four counties, praised the shared time program started last year by a public school and neighboring Catholic school in Chicago, and urged this practice be extended.

"All other democratic nations in the world have arrived at some equitable solution" to the problem of integrating instruction about religion into the public schools, he asserted.

Nearly 200 school administrators — including a good representation from the Catholic schools — attended the luncheon meeting at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael. Lawrence A. Lindberg of the county schools office was program chairman.

The climate of the French Riviera did not gain international fame until the 19th century, says the National Geographic.

Grand Jury Sets Session On State Marijuana Laws

Two committees of the Marin County Grand Jury will meet this week to discuss possible changes in the state marijuana laws and to delve further into the Family Rehabilitation Center, Juvenile Hall, and the probation department.

The law enforcement committee of the grand jury will meet at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in Room 426 of the Civic Center to get opinions of law enforcement officers on suggestions for changes in the marijuana laws.

The special assignments committee will meet Thursday night at 7:30 and resume again Friday morning agout 9:30 for an all-day hearing.

Clifford S. Lund, grand jury foreman, said this is a continuation of hearings that have been going on for some time on the Family Rehabilitation Center, Juvenile Hall, and the probation department to see how they are operating and what improvements if any can be made.

"We have lots and lots of people to talk to," said Lund. "Our report won't be ready for 30 or 45 days."

FIGHT IN LONDON—A police constable restrains a screaming, bloodied Chinese Communist Legation member during fighting which erupted at the back of the legation today. The building has been under police guard since the burning last week of the British Legation in Peking. (UPI Telephoto)

Viet Cong Plot Terror To Cut Vote

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese sources say the Viet Cong have plotted a countrywide campaign to sabotage the presidential elections Sunday with increased military attacks, terrorism and propaganda.

The sources said information on the Communist plans came from captured documents, intelligence reports and questioning of guerrillas taken prisoner.

Over the weekend the Communists launched a series of mortar, rocket and artillery attacks from Quang Tri Province below the demilitarized zone to the Mekong delta in the south. There also has been a sharp increase in terrorist kidnapings, murders and sabotage.

The sources said one captured document assailed the United States, saying: "Taking part in the election is letting Americans go on burning houses, destroying religious denominations, increasing cowboys and prostitutes, increasing the cost of living, increasing taxes and letting our men be pushed into death."

South Vietnam's leading civilian candidate for president said today he is satisfied that the campaign is going "normally" and that "pressures and intimidations of the local authorities against our campaign workers have been reduced."

"In the past two weeks," former Premier Tran Van Huong told his final campaign news conference, "the electoral campaign has unfolded normally in spite of too great a discrepancy between the means available to the civilian tickets and to the two generals," Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

There have been increasing reports that Huong's position is strengthening while that of Thieu and Ky is being eroded.

Huong said negotiations to end the war could be held only with North Vietnam and not the Viet Cong, and that the United States and other foreign allies would play only an advisory role in such negotiations.

Assault Case Plea Scheduled

San Quentin inmate Richard W. Kroft was arraigned in Marin Superior Court yesterday on an indictment of assaulting a fellow prisoner with a pipe during a Jan. 17 fracas at the prison.

Plea entry was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Kroft, a Caucasian serving six months to 15 years for burglary and marijuana possession in San Diego County, is accused of smiting Paul D. Travis,a Negro, during a mess hall strike by a group of Black Muslims.

Travis recovered.

Court Halts Medi-Cal Cuts

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state has been restrained ,by a temporary court order, from putting into effect all of its proposed multi-million dollar Medi-Cal program cutbacks.

The order was issued late yesterday by Superior Court Judge Elvin F. Sheehy of Sacramento at the request of Sheldon Green of Modesto, head of the California Rural Legal Assistance office in Modesto.

Judge Sheehy set a hearing Sept. 8 for the state to justify the cutbacks in the program of medical care to the poor.

Red Chinese Officials Clash With Londoners

LONDON (AP)—Red Chinese legation members fought with London police and civilians today in a series of clashes.

The British said about 18 members of the Chinese diplomatic staff came out of the legation and attacked police on guard there. Several Chinese and British policemen were slightly injured.

The clash came when police stepped in to stop about 10 Britons and 15 Chinese who were punching and kicking each other after an exchange of words. A crowd of about 150 watched.

After things quieted down another fight broke out when a black car carrying Chinese back from the Foreign Office drove in behind the legation. The Chinese waved bats and the police struck back with night sticks. One policeman had blood streaming from a head wound and a Chinese was bloodied in the face.

A week ago the British legation in Peking was burned by mobs after expiration of a Red Chinese ultimatum to release Chinese Communist newsmen and editors held in British Hong Kong for sedition.

The British ignored the ultimatum and only today three executives of Communist papers in the colony were convicted and sentenced to three years in prison. Two other Communist executives are still on trial.

During the fight in London, police picked up the ash can covers and used them as shields against a barrage of milk bottles thrown at them.

A woman who lives in an upstairs apartment in the same mews joined in the fighting by throwing flower pots at the Chinese.

When the fighting died down ambulances drove up to the legation and the attendants were allowed to carry out on stretchers three Chinese — their heads wrapped in bandages.

A crowd of 300 began to converge on the legation but were held back by police.

Some shouts came from the crowd, "Smash Communism," "Mao is a pig!" and "Go back to China."

Lutheran Church In Terra Linda To Lose Pastor

Rev. Norman J. Bangert of the Lutheran Church of the Resurrection in Terra Linda announced Sunday he is leaving the congregation after six years to become pastor of Grace Lutheran Church in Farbury, Neb.

Farbury is nine miles from his birthplace in Gladstone, Neb. Rev. Bangert's father was a church pastor in Gladstone and helped establish the church in Farbury in 1923.

Rev. Bangert, 38, came to Marin from Hawaii in September, 1961. His wife, Mrs. Bonnie Bangert, died last Dec. 23 after a long illness. His sister, Dorothy Bangert, has helped care for his four children, aged 2 through 10 since then and will accompany them to Nebraska.

Rev. Bangert will preach his farewell sermon Sept. 17 and is scheduled to be installed as pastor at Farbury Oct. 1.

The Farbury congregation has 850 people, while the Church of the Resurrection has 260. While Rev. Bangert has served as pastor in Terra Linda, an educational building and a parsonage has been added to the church, which also has been redecorated.

Planners Back Hospital Units

Novato planning commissioners last night granted Robert Coman a use permit to eatablish and operate two or more convalescent hospital buildings, containing 50 beds, on 11 acres at Tamalpais Avenue and Hill Avenue.

The commission also approved a map of Westwood Hillview subdivision, about 12 acres in size, at Simmons and Benton lanes.

It continued to Oct. 9 a referral from Marin County Planning Department for recommendations on Paul Sade's application to rezone 50 acres at 300 Olive Avenue to permit a 280-unit mobile home park.

Commissioners denied an application from Jack Caristi to erect a five by six-foot illuminated sign, "Home Bake Shop," at 1209 Grant Avenue, Maria Sousa, typist-clerk reported.

Lawrence McNear Is Good Condition

Lawrence P. McNear, 67, of McNear's Point in San Rafael was listed in good condition today at Marin General Hospital following a stroke at his home Aug. 6.

McNear, whose family has extensive landholdings in the county, is undergoing physical therapy for the temporary paralysis in his right side. The family reports he is able to speak again.

Sanitary Unit Tax Rate Down, Budget Rises

Novato Sanitary District directors last night adopted an operating budget of $202,735 for fiscal 1967-68 and set a 35-cent tax rate.

Last year's budget was $199,490. The tax rate dropped 7 cents from last year's 42 cents per $100 assessed valuation, due mainly to a 21.72 per cent increase in assessed valuation, according to Manager-Engineeer Charles A. Joseph.

The tax rate for 1967-68 breaks down into 28.5 cents for maintenance and operation tax in all areas of the district except the area served by the Ignacio treatment plant and a bond tax of 6.5 cents. Last year's breakdown was 33 cents for all areas except that served by Ignacio treatment plant and 9 cents bond tax.

The amount raised from property taxes last year was $153,288, Joseph reported.

The board will meet Sept. 11, 18 and 25.

ROCKWELL

the Nazis would either comply with the military "no armband" edict or decide to bury Rockwell at a non-military cemetery.

The confrontation came after the cemetery superintendent, Edward H. Maxwell, halted the Nazi troops when they refused to remove their red black swastike armbands.

As the situation grew tense, the Army dispatched its top military policeman, Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner, to the scene along with a platoon of military policemen.

The Pentagon decreed yesterday that the Rockwell burial could not include a display of Nazi banners and troopers wearing Nazi insignia.

The 49-year-old former Navy aviator was killed Friday by a sniper at a small shopping center in Arlington, Va., just outside Washington. He was entitled to burial in a national cemetery as an honorably discharged veteran.

The first arrest at the cemetery came when an American Nazi Party official attempted to ride into the cemetary on the hood of the hearse. Since he was on federal property, military policemen jerked him down and he was hustled away by three U.S. mrashals.

One of the other two party members arrested—in the uniform of a stormtrooper—had jumped to the roof of the hearse screaming, "Come on, let's go' We're going to bury him here!"

The Nazi plunged across the roof and hood of the hearse and made it about two yards inside the first rank of military policemen guarding the cemetery entrance. Again, marshals stepped in and led him away.

The charge on the cemetery came after the Nazis started yelling: "We want in! We want in! He was an American fighting man, let him in."

The serviceman arrested was Pfc. James C. DeWitt, 21, of Michigan. He said before he was taken in custody that he had been a storm trooper in Rockwell's party before joining the regular army. He is stationed at Ft. Gordon, Ga.

Rockwell's family decided not to attend today's rites.

"We have bowed out of this circus," a family spokesman said.

The Pentagon said it had also turned down the Nazis' request for an "all caucasian" military honor guard from both the Army and Navy for the funeral. A spokesman said such a unit was "just not available" because of the policy of nondiscrimination of races among federal troops.

Rockwell's grave was dug yesterday in a tiny plot in the 6.5 acre cemetery where nearly 16,000 American veterans are buried.

Rockwell served as a naval aviator during two wars and was honorably discharged after 19 years.

The American Nazi party, founded by Rockwell in 1959, is dedicated to the destruction of Negroes, Jews and Communists.

Rockwell was shot through the chest Friday as he backed away from a coin-operated laundry in Arlington. Police charged a man who used to be one of Rockwell's top lieutenants, John C. Patler, 29, with murder.

Jail Sentence Given For Marijuana

Robert Louis Hernandez, 26, was given 10 months in county jail and placed on five years probation today in Marin Superior Court for marijuana possession.

He pleaded guilty June 24. Hernandez, of 62 Adrian Way, Santa Venetia, had a small tin of marijuana last Sept. 30 in San Rafael.

Ross School Board Asks Lower Rate

Ross School trustees last night asked Supt. Robert D. Gowan and County Auditor Michael Mitchell to lower the previously estimated 1967-68 tax rate from $3.205 to about $3.105 per $100 assessed valuation.

Despite the drop, the rate will be up about five cents from last year.

The drop was made possible by new income amounting to almost $20,000, from the state. The board is using $10,000 of the money to lower the tax rate.

The board passed a budget July 10 of $406,123, up $25,920 from last year's. The demand on property taxes went up from $326,848 to $336,485 and the combination of a small rise in property assessments, only 1.25 per cent, and higher payments on the $350,000 bond issue passed in 1965, boosted the tax rate.

The board also hired a new librarian, Miss Shirley Peltzman of Los Angeles, at an annual salary of $8,450, and passed a resolution urging voters in the Tamalpais Union High School District to approve the $12.315 million bond issue to be voted on Oct. 10.

The board instructed Gowan to hire a sixth grade teacher for the coming school year.

The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 18 in the school.

the policemen, Andersen said, "That would be admitting our boys are wrong; that would be dangerous."

In a related development, Watson filed suit. in Marin Superior Court yesterday against the motel and its owner, Irving B. Litchfield, for $15,000 damages charging assault and battery.

Watson, of 156 Blackstone Drive, said the attack occurred in the motel parking lot. The sculptor had claimed he was falsely arrested by Homen and Maynard, but there was no record of a booking or a complaint having been filed.

Youths Named To Rights Unit

Three Marin City youths have been appointed to the police-community relations subcommittee of the Marin Human Rights Commission.

Gregory Baines, 26, a Sausalito school teacher and spokesman for the Marin City youth group, said Robert Washington, 19, Walter Turner, 19, and James Bullock, 22, will represent Marin City youth.

Baines and Mrs. Tommie Smith, president of the Marin City Mothers Guild, are also on the subcommittee, as is Lanny Berry, former county probation officer and now with Tamalpias High School District.

Mrs. Bella Aaron, vice chairman of the police-community relations subcommittee will call a meeting of the subcommittee, probably on Thursday night.

Suspects To Plead In Marijuana Case

Two Forest Knolls men were arraigned in Marin Superior Court yesterday on a joint felony complaint of marijuana possession.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson scheduled plea entries for Sept. 18. The pair, Stephen Kagin, 21, and John Lawrence Yenches, 23, both of 51 Ramona Avenue, is accused of having a one-kilogram brick of marijuana in the trunk of their car June 3.

said, and has no police or probation record.

Teague said he twice talked with the youth after the building fires, and felt he was upset when discussing fires, but no evidence was gained against him. Teague said the youth also once voluntarily came to him for a talk, but still couldn't be connected with the arson.

He said an unsigned letter about arson was finally received by San Rafael police. A sample of youth's handwriting was then obtained, Teague said, and apparently matched that of the letter. Teague said the youth was confronted, and admitted the arson.

He described him as frustrated, unable to get along with people. The youth told Teague the only times others came to him is when they want something from him. Teague said he will be cited today to the Juvenile Probation Office for felony arson. He said the boy, living with his parents, is also undergoing psychiatric treatment.

He had no accomplice in the fires, Teague added.

WAR

ses holding back an estimated 35,000 Communist invasion troops on the North-South Vietnam border.

Behind the lines Viet Cong guerrillas attacked nine key bridges, eight of them along the Route 1 supply line feeding the Marines in the embattled border zone. The ninth bridge connected Saigon to a key area in the Mekong Delta.

The Communist artillery and bridge attacks yesterday appeared designed to serve a double purpose—show Communist power in hopes of spoiling South Vietnam's Sept. 3 presidential elections and to hit and hit hard the American power in the northern provinces which have become the war's main arena.

In Saigon, as U.S. and government officials issued new anti-terror warnings, Viet Cong assassins struck again.

Two terrorists on a motorbike shot and killed a South Vietnamese Navy petty officer handing out "get-out-the-vote" leaflets in the capital's Chinese district of Cholon.

Savings Bond Sales Reported

U.S. savings bond sales in the county last month totaled $149,154, D. C. Davis, county savings bond chairman reported.

Statewide sales were reported up — $12,812,926, as compared to $11,827,120 for the month of July last year.

For the first seven months of the year, bond sales in Northern California reached $87,316,405, up nearly $7 million from the same period last year.

$99,000 For Windows At Wind-Swept Base

The 666th Radar Squadron atop Mount Tamalpais is preparing for winter winds by getting ready to install $99,000 worth of windows.

A contract for that sum has been awarded Roger A. Hoerauf of Pacific Grove to replace windows in most of the buildings including family housing, an Air Force spokesman at Hamilton Air Force Base said today.

It involves replacing windows and wooden frames with steel and aluminum frames and windows. Asked why this amount of new windows, the spokesman said, "mainly because of the wind velocity." Winds have often reached as high as 92 miles per hour at the Air Force base which is over 2,500 feet in altitude.

The Air Force also awarded a contract of $13,137 to Joseph R. Filippo, San Rafael, to alter precision-measuring equipment at Hamilton; a $21,490 contract to Neil T. Burton, Kentfield, for altering the base's water supply treatment and a $23,171 contract to Golden Gate Disposal Co., San Francisco, for refuse collection at the base's housing area. The last contract is for 10 months. This contract was formerly with Bay Cities Disposal, El Cerrito.

Reagan Signs Into Law Controls On Wiretapping, Privacy Invasion

SACRAMENTO (AP)—An updating of California's law against the invasion of privacy, aimed at the latest superspy - type electronic snooping devices has been signed into law by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, sponsored the legislation.

Probably the most important part of the law forbids recording or listening to a conversation through wiretapping or an electronic listening device unless all parties to the conversation agree to it.

It makes illegal the use, manufacture, transportation or providing of such devices when the main interest is invasion of privacy.

Reagan also announced yesterday that he has signed another Unruh bill, this one giving more pay and a $5,000 annual expense account to all top elected officials except the governor.

The measure won't take effect until 1971. When it does, the lieutenant governor, secretary of state, controller, treasurer and superintendent of public instruction will go from $25,000 annually to $30,000. The attorney general, whose salary is linked to State Supreme Court pay, will get a boost from $32,000 a year to $35,000.

Other bills signed:

VEHICLES — Requires identification plate for special mobile and cemetery equipment, at a $5 annual fee; SB 659, Carrell, D-San Fernando.

HORSES — Allows Arabian horse races at state and local fairs; SB 873, Walsh, D-Huntington Park.

EXPLOSIVES—Expands definition of explosives to include some of the newer materials; SB 928, Kennick, D-Long Beach.

TOUT—Seeks to outlaw horserace touting by requiring anyone who sells predictions on racing to notify California Horse Racing Board of his prediction three hours before the race; SB 1190, Kennick.

TAHOE — Allows establishment of North Lake Tahoe-Truckee River Sanitation Agency subject to voter approval; SB 1504, Teale, D-Railroad Flat.

LICENSE — Transfers licensing of employment agencies to the vocational standards department, creates a Bureau of Employment Agencies with head appointed by governor; SB 466, Badham, R-Newport Beach.

EMPLOY — Allows Fair Employment Practices Division to initiate educational programs seeking to get work for minority groups; AB 544, Greene, D-Sacramento.

WOMEN — Allows women in certain jobs to work up to 58 hours a week, if paid overtime rate, instead of 40 hours; AB 1030, Moretti, D-Van Nuys.

SCHOOL—Requires each high school to adopt minimum academic standards for graduation; AB 1268, Greene.

AID — Requires most police and firemen to be trained to administer first aid; AB 2275, Moorhead, R-Glendale.

Hearing On Knife

A 32-year-old Novato man, Edwin Cuthbert Baraco Jr., pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to having an illegally modified .410 gauge shotgun in his possession.

Preliminary hearing was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Thursday. Baraco, of 1440 Cambridge Street, was arrested by San Rafael police July 17.

Probation On Morals Charge

Frederick L. Ullner, 47-year-old former leader of conservative political movements, was given three years probation yesterday in Marin Superior Court for statutory rape and committing an unnatural sex act.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson also sentenced Ullner to the five-months county jail time already served awaiting trial, and ordered him to continue psychiatric treatment.

Ullner, one-time Larkspur television shopowner, pleaded guilty July 24, to the sexual offenses with a 15-year-old girl from December of 1965 to last February. He originally had pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity.

Ullner was an organizer of the Committee for Abolition of Capital Punishment and a self-styled leader of the Conservative Action Committee.

Innocent Plea To Striking Patrolman

Fred Richard Jones, 20, already facing a charge of obstructing sheriff's deputies in their duties, yesterday was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on a felony complaint of assaulting a Sausalito police officer.

He pleaded innocent. Preliminary hearing was scheduled for 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Jones, of 251 Drake Avenue, Marin City, is accused of striking Sausalito police officer Michael Kielman after being halted Aug. 19 for erratic driving on Bridgeway. Jones then fled on foot.

Jones was arrested Sunday in the car of another youth, Roy Morgan Jr., 19, of 19 Park Circle, Marin City. Sausalito police booked Morgan for investigation of obstruction an officer and attempting to rescue a prisoner in custody, but no complaint was issued in Marin Municipal Court yesterday pending further study.

He was released from jail.

Jones is scheduled for jury trial on the earlier obstructing charge Oct. 2.

San Rafael Tax Holds Line; Salaries To Rise

The San Rafael City Council last night set the fiscal 1968 city tax rate at 90 cents per $100 assessed valuation — unchanged from last year — after adopting a $3,649,142 budget which includes pay raise for all city employees.

Last year's budget totaled $3,667,557.

The salary of City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen was raised from $18,900 to $20,000 per year. City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner was raised 5 per cent plus $100 per month, to $1,155 per month or $13,860 per year. Chief Bldg. Inspector Jack Coates was raised 5 per cent plus $55 per month to $1,050 per month of $12,600 per year.

Other department head salaries which are set by the council were increased 5 per cent. These include Fire Chief Vance Trivett, Public Works Supt. Norris M. Rawles, Engineer Ely Caillouette Jr., Parks and Recreation Director Andrew J. Snyder, and Finance Director Orrin Wendling.

Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa, City Clerk W. C. Cornwell, City Treasurer Angelina Soldavini, and City Atty. David Menary are elective officials so their salaries cannot be increased during their term of office.

All other city employees, who received a 2½ per cent pay raise July 1, will get an additional 2½ per cent Oct. 1, the council announced.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini noted the council had promised employees an additional raise if the money were found. Additional money will come in the city from the increases in state cigarette taxes voted by the legislature.

San Rafael's city revenues last fiscal year ran about $200,000 below expectations because of declines in building fees and sales tax, according to Finance Director Wendling.

However, the increase in assessed valuation for the new fiscal year will mean about $100,000 more city tax revenues at the 90-cent rate.

Gospel Singer Postpones Tour

BERLIN (AP) — At the advice of her doctor, gospel singer Mahalia Jackson has postponed indefinitely a European concert tour to avoid the possibility of a heart attack.

"I want to sing," she cried yesterday, wiping her wet eyes. "Oh, how I want to sing. What about all those people who have paid money to see me? Will they understand?"

Dr. Rolf Schroeder, cardiac specialist at the West Berlin Westend Hospital, said, "The burden of performing would have been a great strain on her heart and could have led to a heart attack."

Miss Jackson, 55, suffered a heart attack three years ago.

Senators Are Told Radiation Dangers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Radiation exposure from the faulty use of X-ray machines and protective devices is far greater than from any other source and causes a large and unnecessary death toll, senators were told yesterday.

Routine medical exposure to ionizing radiation results in at least 3,000 and perhaps as many as 30,000 deaths annually, Karl Z. Morgan, director of the health physics division of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory told the Senate Commerce Committee.

Mountain Pass Scene Of Fight

MADRAS, India (AP) — A report from the Himalayan kingdom of Sikkim today said Indian and Communist Chinese troops are facing each other with fixed bayonets only three or four yards apart at the Cho La mountain pass on the border.

A correspondent of the newspaper Hindu reported from Gangtok, Sikkim's capital, that a Chinese patrol crossed the border in the area of the pass early this month but retreated when Indian troops challenged them.

Later the Chinese returned in greater strength and since then each side has been claiming the pass, the report said.

San Pedro Road Residents Seek Action On Speeding

"Progress," in the form of street widening, has earned no plaudits from a group of residents and property owners on San Pedro Road.

A three-page petition headed "United States of America . . . By This Public Instrument of Protest" and bearing 29 signatures was delivered last night to the San Rafael City Council.

The protestors claim that since its widening in a joint city-county project, San Pedro Road has become a hazardous speedway.

Several of the signers injected comments of their own after affixing their names to the protest, which was prepared by Scott Tilden of San Pedro Road, park superintendent and landscaper for the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Herkner of 49 San Pedro Roda, the first signers, recorded that "about 25 years ago, this neighborhood petitioned for a 25-mile per hour speed limit and to our knowledge, we have asked for no change." Part of the street is now in a 35-mile zone.

They asked for warning signs, including "yield," "watch out for pedestrians," "blind curve," etc.

Harry Simpson of 2 Embaracadero Way, owner of the Aqua Vista Apartments, wrote that his tenants have complained about speeding to police, who "come out for time enough to give one tag and then disappear again."

Mr. and Mrs. William Wider of 15 Mooring Road wrote that speeders round the blind curve from Third Street onto San Pedro Road "with their tires screaching."

Tilden wrote that the complaint was signed by every resident on San Pedro Road from Embarcadero Way to Marina Boulevard. That is the stretch widened in the first stage of the joint city-county project for widening San Pedro Road.

Copies of the petition were sent to County Supervisor John F. McInnis; James Robertson, county traffic engineer, and Norris M. Rawles, city public works superintendent.

The Jet Watchers

CLOSER THE BETTER — For reasons they themselves don't understand, jet-watchers congregate as close as possible to the landing points of the big birds. These Los Angeles youths have climbed onto their car for better viewing, after parking at the spot where the airliners come over at the lowest altitude on landings.

NO VIEW, GREAT VIEW — Even on days when fog grounds the sparrows, the hardier type of jet watcher is on hand to watch the big jets grope their way to safe landings via instruments and radar control. Then, on the clearer evenings, the glittering lights of Los Angeles make a superb climax to the air traveler's journey to Southern California.

BATTLE OF SLOGANS — "Super Shock Control . . . A Smoother Ride" reads the side of a boxcar passing the airport while a jet screams over, seemingly landing on the rolling stock. In an era which has seen airlines take practically all passenger travel away from railroads, the slogan campaigns center now on freight.

INTO THE SUNSET — Seemingly flying straight into the smog-distorted setting sun, a big jet streaks off the runway, either to chase Old Sol on a trans-Pacific flight, or perhaps to turn toward darkness on a trans-polar flight to Europe.

Backers Of Poverty Program Criticized

By JIM BREWER

The San Geronimo Valley poverty study committee last night bypassed any poverty discussion and took steps to eliminate or condemn board members who may favor the establishment of a program.

The property owners on the committee also scolded Supervisor Thomas T. Storer for allowing the Economic Opportunity Council to come into the county in the first place.

Storer, who had come to tell them he is against any program which creates so much dissention in the community, was jeered when he stated that the supervisors know nothing about the EOC's possible entry into the valley until it began two months ago.

After a heated discussion, the board removed Mike Healy, former chairman and two-year valley resident, for failure to attend two consecutive meetings without an excuse.

Healy has been outspokenly in favor of a poverty program for the valley.

Healy was one of four members up for removal, but was the only one of them present at last night's session. He told the group he had been on vacation and had had no way of complying with the EOC attendance rule.

Although Healy had announced his vacation plans at the meeting four weeks ago, and his absence had been explained by an EOC representative at the following meeting, the board members rejected his arguments.

Discussion on a motion by board member Kent Rupp of Forest Knolls to accept the excuse, turned into a personal attack on Healy's "lack of interest in valley problems," which, it was said, he demonstrated by taking a vacation. The motion failed 8-14. Automatically dropped from membership were the other three, Zane Clemons of Forest Knolls, Carl Umland of Woodacre and William McBride of San Geronimo.

Following the vote, board secretary and self-described hippie, Marion Watson resigned. Reading her letter of resignation to the board, she condemned it, saying any attempt to deal with poverty in a humanitariam way there is either "voted down, shouted down, or ignored."

The members then unanimously elected Louise Wood of Lagunitas to replace Mrs. Watson, and voted to meet the first and third Tuesdays in each month.

Discussion on the proposed poverty survey, the scheduled main topic for last night's meeting, was postponed until next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Lagunitas School.

Class Changes In Mill Valley Are Announced

A sequence of class changes in Mill Valley elementary schools was announced today by Supt. James A. Collins which will reduce class sizes at Park and Old Mill schools and introduce team teaching for sixth graders at Alto School.

Sixth grade classes at Old Mill have been reassigned to Alto, Collins said in a letter to parents explaining the changes.

At Alto, six teachers working under Glenn Skelton will team to teach approximately 180 sixth graders.

The district will add two new teachers and one extra kindergarten session at Old Mill to reduce class sizes. All children in the Old Mill School area from kindergarten through third grade will attend Old Mill this year, even if they went to Park last year.

The changes were anticipated in 1967-8 budget sessions, but were not made final until now because the state finance bill was not passed until Aug. 15, school officials said.

War Will Aid GOP, Demo Says

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Unless there is a change in the Vietnam war situation, Republicans will win next year's election, the president of the California Democratic Council predicted yesterday.

Speaking at a news conference was Gerald Hill, who heads the Democratic Party volunteer organization. He said the main business at a CDC special convention Sept. 30 in Long Beach will be forming a peace delegation to the party's national convention.

"Any of the leading Republican candidates, except Richard Nixon," will defeat President Johnson if there is no change in the war situation, he asserted.

A second count of passing a $115 worthless check to defraud Ray Jacob in Novato was dismissed following the plea. Also dismissed was a complaint charging burglary from the Ward store Jan. 4.

Jenning's guilty plea was certified to Marin Superior Court for judgment Sept. 5. He resides at 1364 Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

Kidney Transplanting Proves Most Successful Of Operation

VAN DELLEN

Our surgeons have more favorable results with transplanting kidneys than with other organs. Of approximately 1,100 grafts, 60 per cent survived more than a year. The remainder were rejected by the body or failed to function.

Much of the success stems from drugs such as Imuran, Prednisone, and a new horse serum, antilymphocyte globulin (ALG). These products suppress or delay the mechanism by which the body rejects organs from other persons.

DONORS ARE difficult to obtain. Most kidneys are obtained from cadavers, which, for reasons unknown, are less likely to be rejected than those obtained from the living. The transplant candidate has irreversible renal failure, is under 4 years of age, and otherwise healthy. An artifiical kidney keeps him alive until a donor is found.

The ideal donor is young, dying of a head injury, brain tumor, or as a result of heart surgery. When death is inevitable two anesthesiologists, six to eight nurses, and 10 to 15 physicians are alerted. Permission is obtained from the next of kin, and following death, the medical team goes into action.

ONE GROUP removes the kidney of the donor and that of the donor is removed by another. The technique is well established but it takes time to make the necessary connections. The individual is then given the products mentioned previously and connected to the artificial kidney until the graft begins to function.

The outcome in your daughter's case depends upon what caused the hearing loss. May I suggest an expert opinion by an ear specialist?

Yes, as a rule. In addition there are many other symptoms and findings when inflammation attacks the pelvis of the kidney.

Mexican Expert Cooks Up Pill To Prevent Side Suit Trouble

One of the best performances of the recent national tournament in Montreal was turned in by Dr. George Rosenkranz of Mexico City.

In today's hand, played in the Life Master Pair Championship, Dr. Rosenkrnanz, president of the Syntex Corporation, cooked up a pill to protect himself against bad luck in a side suit.

There wasn't a cloud in the sky when the play began, but the first round of trumps gave declarer something to think about.

Dr. Rosenkranz took the first trick with the ace of hearts and led the king of spades.

SOUTH IN PERIL

East discarded the ten of clubs, and South saw that he was in danger of losing a trick in each suit.

Exactly this happened to several experts who played the hand in the tournament.

(In a bridge tournament, a hand is played by many different foursomes at many sifferent tables.)

In some cases South tried a finesse with dummy's jack of diamonds, losing to the queen.

East cashed one heart and returned the king of clubs to dummy's ace.

Later, West ruffed the third diamond and cashed a club trick, defeating the contract.

SUCCESSFUL PLAY

Dr. Rosenkranz found a safe line of play for his contract.

He drew three rounds of trumps, cashed the ace and king of diamonds and then led a third diamond toward dummy.

East won with the queen of diamonds and returned the king of clubs to dummy's ace, but now Dr. Rosenkranz had managed to combine his losing club and his losing trump into a single losing trick.

ANSWER: Pass.

Partner promises a hand with 7 or 8 playing ricks, depending on vulnerability, but very few aces or kings. Your hand will help him make his contract, but it will not be good enough to help him make a slam.

Waterfront Park Idea Is Defeated

The Tiburon City Council last night approved a planned development zone for the city's waterfront rather than the park zoning originally proposed in the city's new zoning ordinance.

The decision came after lengthy debate and after Mayor John S. Hoffmire told the council he was working with Northwestern Pacific Railroad and the Tiburon Peninsula Co. towards joint development of their extensive waterfront and downtown holdings.

Controversy last night centered on a 100-foot-wide strip of shoreline from the Windjammer Restaurant to Elephant Rock, eliminating a small park zone at Mar West.

HELD NECESSARY

Mayor Hoffmire said the 100-foot strip was necessary for the property owners to undertake development.

Councilman Gordon W. Strawbridge said the railroad and the Tiburon Peninsula Co. had been "refreshingly cooperative, but I have been an open waterfront man for three years." He said it would be unrealistic for him to vote for the 100-foot strip of P-D, when he had no intention of granting approval to development of the waterfront.

He said he didn't want to see anyone get hurt, especially the city. He favored having the city buy the waterfront property and favored zoning the entire area from Tiburon Boulevard to the water as park.

Councilman Thomas E. Drohan disagreed. He said the park approach was the wrong method.

Hoffmire promised to work on getting the railroad and the Tiburon Peninsula Co. together if the zoning was left in planned development, which requires a precise development plan.

Joseph Bacheller, parks and recreation commissioner, reminded the council that the parks and recreation commission recommended 125 feet of waterfront be reserved for a park.

But Drohan said "we have to do some negotiating here, not put it all in park. I can't understand why the people won't let us work with the railroad and other property owners on this important subject."

Matthey B. Weinberg, of the Tiburon Peninsula Co., said the shoreline now is man-made and ugly. "Give us a chance and we'll try to give you an adult park, not another Sausalito. If you don't give us a chance, you freeze it out."

Councilmen expressed interest in hearing more about the two waterfront development plans in the future and approved the P-D boundary line as recommended by the planning commission.

Council Introduces Tiburon Zoning Law

Tiburon City Council approved introduction of the much discussed zoning ordinance today after talking over changes until after 1 a.m.

A recommendation to adopt an agricultural zone (A-2) for "Blackie's pasture," in the Trestle Glen area, was approved.

After hearing citizens express different opinions on lot sizes for the agricultural residential zone, it was set to allow one single-family dwelling per acre.

The word "processing" was struck from the professional-administrative zone, to eliminate the possibility of light industry in Tiburon.

In the planned development zone downtown, a requirement was added for a master plan for all connecting parcels. The building coverage limit was expanded from 20 per cent to 40 per cent.

Airplane and helicopter facilities were eliminated from the ordinance.

Near midnight, the council decided to adopt all other recommendations on which the planning commission, City Atty. Robert I. Conn and the committee of councilmen Thomas E. Drohan and Brandwell D. Fanning had agreed.

Fanning was out of town.

Because of the late hour, the council continued adoption of the budget and setting a tax rate to a meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Jury Trial Set On Armed Robbery

Armed robbery trial of Steve Howard, 20, was scheduled in Marin Superior Court yesterday for the week of Oct. 29.

Howard, of Marin City, is accused of robbing L. D. Blatz at Community Store, 371 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, at gunpoint, Feb. 17. His first trial resulted in a mistrial May 16 after a juror was victim of an assault in Mill Valley.

Morals Case Set For Trial By Jury

Albert R. Kingman, 49, yesterday was scheduled for jury trial in Marin Superior Court for the week of Nov. 6.

Kingman, of 221 Princeton Avenue, Mill Valley is charged with exposing himself near Elm Avenue in Larkspur July 24 and with having a prior similar conviction.

Protests Beat Tiburon Annex Hopes

Tiburon City Council last night conceded defeat of plans to annex the unincorporated areas of the peninsula by passing a resolution acknowledging protests covered more than 50 per cent of assessed valuation in the area affected.

City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose's figures were challenged by brothers James Murray, attorney, of Mar East Street and Jack V. Murray, of Paradise Drive.

Rose said the protests represented $5,165,000 land value, of a total valuation of $8,374,260. He figured 750 single family protests, or between 500 and 600 registered voters.

Jack Murray said he had obtained 500 signatures and demanded that Rose retract his statement. But Mayor John S. Hoffmire gaveled him down and defended Rose's figures as being "facts to the best of his knowledge." The Murrays stormed out of the council chamber.

Fired Internal Revenue Agent Seeks Old Job

Joseph J. Rasonsky of Forest Knolls, a fired Internal Revenue Service agent, sued yesterday for return of his job and $250,000 damages.

Named defendants in the suit filed in U.S. District Court in San Francisco are Joseph Cullen, district director of the IRS, John W. Macy Jr., chairman of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, which upheld his firing in 1964, and several IRS intelligence men.

The IRS said Rasonsky, now a tax consultant in San Anselmo, was discharged for inefficiency. Rasonsky said he was fired because he protested IRS practices.

In his suit, Rasonsky charged the defendants conspired to "molest, interrupt, hinder or impede him" in his duties. He asked $250,000 damages on grounds he was unjustly treated Rasonsky, an agent 20 years, testified in February 1966, before a U.S. Senate subcommittee in San Francisco investigating wiretapping by law enforcement agencies. Several tax fraud convictions were reversed by the courts as a result of his testimony, he said.

The former agent, 54, of 5 Barranca Road, taught a course in income tax preparation at the College of Marin this year. He had once vowed never to return to civil service.

The IRS declined comment on Rasonsky's suit, pending a formal court answer.

Commuters Ferries To Be Discussed

Harlan L. Soeten of Mill Valley, curator of the San Francisco Maritime Museum, will be the speaker at the quarterly meeting of the Mill Valley unit of the Marin Conservation League, scheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Mill Valley Golf club house, 267 Buena Vista Avenue.

Soeten, who is vice chairman of the unit, will speak on commuter ferries as the best form of transportation for Marin-San Francisco commuters.

Federal Aid For Airport Is Rejected

The Federal Aviation Administration has turned down Marin's request for federal aid for the Phase 2 development of Marin County Airport in Novato.

However, this does not jeopardize the current Phase 1 development of the airport in any way, assistant administrator John F. Barrows said today.

Phase 2 would extend the runway and taxiway to 3,300 feet.

The FAA, in a routine letter, notified Marin yesterday that "your request has not been included in the approved fiscal year 1968 program for the reason that the county's share of funds are not assured for the runway and taxiway extension."

Decision Scheduled In Marijuana Case

Robert Andrew Wilson, 22, pleaded no-contest in Marin Superior Court yesterday to a charge of marijuana possession. Judgment was scheduled for Sept. 5.

Wilson, of 35 Curtis Avenue, San Rafael, had a small plastic bag of marijuana when halted by Corte Madera police for a traffic violation April 7.

Esthetics Of Channel Fencing Vs. Safety

Can fencing along flood control channels be lowered from the present six-foot requirement for the sake of esthetics and still provide adequate safety?

This is the question posed by the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

In a letter to the supervisors, Pierre W. Joske, director of parks and recreation, asked for an "investigation to determine if the height standards for flood control channel fencing may be reduced."

"The park and recreation commission is extremely concerned with the esthetics surrounding developments such as Corte Madera Creek and future channels in other county areas," wrote Joske.

He emphasized that the commission realizes the element of danger posed by flood control channels. "However, the commission noted that 42-inch guard rails are being used in similar circumstances, such as guard rails along ridges, or protective fences along precipitous areas in certain parks heavily frequented by the public."

Joske's letter is expected to be considered by the supervisors next Tuesday.

Welfare Chiseling Jury Trial Slated

Jury trial for Morland Leslie Turk, 40, accused of welfare chiseling, was scheduled in Marin Superior Court yesterday for the week of Nov. 13.

Turk, a transient, is charged with obtaining county support for a child since March of 1966, but failing to report $2,600 he received from painting contracting in Marin and Sonoma counties.

Pete Wynn is one of the best of the best

A welder with El Paso Natural Gas Company, Pete has the high training and skills that welders everywhere must have. In addition, he has developed the special abilities of pipeline welders.

Pete helps operate and maintain El Paso Natural's facilities, using materials and procedures that are exactly right for each job. A purification plant vessel, for example, is best welded with a rod that has a lower hydrogen content than a rod used on pipelines. All of Pete's welds that are subject to significant stress are x-rayed to be sure that they are flawless.

Every six months Pete must pass a welding test in which he solves a problem that is equal to the most difficult he will ever meet. The passing grade: 100%. All of Pete's welds — and the welds of all other pipeline welders — must be stronger than the parent metal itself. Pete makes a profession of perfection.

His skills and those of the other 5,400 employees of El Paso Natural Gas Company — whose specialties range from economics to engineering to welding — are among the reasons that California has natural gas rates that are among the lowest in the nation.*

EL PASO NATURAL GAS COMPANY

*Federal Power Commission figures show that Los Angeles and San Francisco-Oakland enjoy the lowest wholesale gas prices of any of the 14 largest metropolitan areas in the nation. El Paso Natural's rates are the lowest of the three pipelines bringing gas to the state. All communities in California, regardless of size, enjoy the benefits of these low rates.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Helen Says That It's Time This Girl Thought Of Herself First

DEAR HELEN:

My parents got divorced when I was four years old, and both married other people. Then they got divorced again, and remarried each other. But it didn't last. They've been separating and going back all my life (which is 16 years). On their second divorce, my father remarried the woman he had divorced before, but that didn't last either.

All this time I was staying a little while with one, a little while with the other and sometimes with my uncle and aunt who are like mother and father to me. I like the school in their town and have made many friends. In fact, the only times I've ever been secure or happy are when I'm here with them.

But now my mother and father have made it up again. They say this time it will last and they want me with them "so we can be a family." My father is a bartender and my mother works part-time as a cocktail waitress. They wouldn't be home much. My uncle and aunt want me to stay on with them.

I guess I should want to be part of the family and I feel guilty when I dread leaving this nice, steady, quiet, loving home. Is there some way I could stay here without hurting my folks? — TUG OF WAR

DEAR TOW:

Why feel guilty about a course that will surely be better for all of you? It's time you thought of yourself first.

Tell your uncle and aunt you'd prefer to stay with them, but soften the blow for your folks by promising to visit them next summer. I think they'll be relieved to see you well settled.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'll be starting my second year in high school soon, and am mixed up. You see, I sort of want to transfer to another school because I could make better grades where I didn't have so many friends to mess around with.

I get all A's and B's, but I could make straight A's if I spent more time studying.

I know I should concentrate more on lessons and less on girls, my friends, and fun. On the other hand, I'll miss the gang if I leave them.

Helen, please tell me what to do. — MIXED UP BOY

DEAR M.U.B.:

Forget the transfer and try a little more will power. It shouldn't take much because you are already a superior student . . . And you need your "F" (for fun) as well as "A's." — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I kidded around with a guy at school and we hit it off real well. But we live several miles apart and he just hasn't thought about getting in touch with me this summer. Maybe he thinks I've forgotten him. I know he doesn't go with anyone else steadily.

My mother says "forget it," but I want to write a friendly little note, just to get me back in his line of vision again. Do you think this would be okay?" — WONDERING

DEAR WON:

Why not? If a boy has cooled off for good, a letter won't fire him up, but if he's temporarily disconnected, a contemporary card might get him back on the front burner. Be sure it's humorous and appropriate.

Good luck! — H.

Marin Group Will Preview 'Magic Flute'

A preview of Mozart's "The Magic Flute," in which Mill Valley's soprano Jane Marsh will make her American professional operatic debut in a major role with the San Francisco opera next month, is planned on Sept. 13 by the San Francisco Opera Action in Marin.

The Marin group has taken a block of 50 dress circle tickets for the Sept. 29 performance, which must be sold by tomorrow. Anyone purchasing a ticket is automatically invited to attend the preview without cost, and others having tickets on subscriptions or those merely interested in attending may do so for a small charge.

The preview will take place at 8:15 p.m. at the Kent Woodlands home of the A. Barlow Fergusons.

The musically illustrated lecture will be presented by Prof. S. Dale Harris of the Stanford English Department. Born in England, Dr. Harris received PH.D., M.A. and B.A. degrees from Harvard. Considered an outstanding author, critic and commentator on opera, he has contributed many articles to the San Francisco Opera official program and reviews operas and opera personalities for KPFA.

Mrs. Edmond Campion Ward of Greenbrae, president of the Marin Opera Action Group, says the purpose of the preview is to stimulate a wider base of support for the San Francisco Opera and to introduce this type of musical entertainment to more people. She stressed that the preview is open to all and is not to be considered a social event.

PROPOSED MAP FOR BOLINAS INCORPORATION

This map shows the proposed incorporated area of Bolinas, where the Briones Lions Club and other residents hope to form Marin's 12th city. It would be the smallest, having just 7,305 acres with a population of about 900. The area in the map includes the Bolinas Fire District jurisdiction and a section of the Bolinas Harbor District. The next step on the road to incorporation is submission of the map to the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission Sept. 7, according to the civil engnieering firm of Bala and Strandgaard of Corte Madera, which prepared it.

Dipsea Winner Of '66 Hurt In Viet Battle

Carl J. Jensen, 23, of Novato, winner of last year's Dipsea race, is believed to have suffered injuries to his eyes and hands after walking into a "booby trap grenade" in the demilitarized zone of Vietnam.

A letter received by his mother, Mrs. Milton Jensen of 13 Nave Court, Novato, explains that Jensen, an Army private first class, was wounded and is at the 67th Evacuation Hospital, Quin Hon.

The letter, dictated to a Red Cross worker by Jensen, says that the private must have his letters read to him and says, "I'll heal in a short while."

Prior to being drafted, Jensen was a fifth semester student at the College of Marin. Single, he has been in Vietnam one month and was stationed at Chu Lai when the accident occurred.

NOVATO COUNCIL CUTS ONE PARK

Canyon Lake Park Off $2.5 Million Bond Issue; Funds For Other Site Developments

Novato City councilmen last night eliminated the 66-acre Canyon Lake Park from the $2,250,000 bond issue for parks to be voted on Jan. 23 and agreed that the $500,000 for Canyon Lake Park's acquisition be used to further develop other parks.

Canyon Lake Park is located in Western Novato, fronting on McClay Road.

The council vote was 3-2, Councilmen William J. Adams and Douglas M. Merrill voting "no." Dissenter Merrill immediately tried another motion asking that the $500,000 be reinstated for Canyon Lake Park acquisition but his motion failed. Mayor J. Wayne Womack,, and councilmen Harley A. McAskill and M. E. (Babe) Silva voted "no."

Reason for eliminating the park was summed up by Womack who said, "We're twice over our heads. We're over our heads double." He referred to the fact that cost estimates for the proposed park sites and developments almost doubled between estimates of the city's planning staff and findings of Ribera and Sue, Berkeley landscape architects.

Ribera and Sue estimated that the "total route" for all improvements over a 20-year would be a little over $4 million. However, Alan Ribera said that their plans were designed for a phase by phase development and the first phase would come within the established $2,250,000 bond figure.

It was agreed at last night's joint meeeting of council and city parks and recreation commissioners that the latter commission will meet Sept. 7 at 8 p.m. to make a "final package" proposal to the city council. The council and commission will meet again at 8 p.m., Sept. 14 for final approval of projects in the bond issue.

The council adjourned at 12:05 a.m. until 8 p.m. today to adopt the fiscal 1967-68 budget and set the tax rate.

Ribera and Sue showed preliminary park plans at the opening of the "work session." And Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, admitted that his preliminary cost figures were "off base and not all-inclusive." Adams recommended that money to be used at four school sites be lowered from $500,000 to $300,000.

In a poll of the commissioners, Commissioner William J. Keener and Harry Moore favored "knocking off" Canyon Lake Park at this time while commissioner Wilkes Lou Johnson said the park is "very high" on the priority list.

Following McAskill's motion to drop Canyon Lake Park from the plan, councilman Adams said, "I think that's the wrong way to go . . . We have enough property right now . . . We have got more than we can afford to maintain if it is fully developed and we can forget about everything else." He describe the city's budget as a "beer budget."

Director Adams reported that matching federal funds, if received, could amount to $546,000, without Canyon Lake Park.

With Canyon Lake Park omitted, park priorities remain in this order: development of Pioneer Memorial Park, Novato Creek Park, Marion Avenue and Olive Street School sites) acquisition of San Marin Park and the 17-acre Leveroni property adjacent to Lions Park; development of Pleasant Valley and Lynwood School sites, Lions Park, San Marin Park, a swim pool at San Marin High School, Novato Creek Park and a community center; acquisition of 18 acres on East Olive Avenue, 16 acres on Library Hill, and 3.5 acres at Arroyo Avichi.

Only $40 And A Doggie Bag From Robbery

Two Negro men, apparently seeking a $4,000 haul, wound up early yesterday with $50 and a doggie bag instead, Sausaltio police said today.

The pair robbed Mrs. D'Andrea Pugh of 299 Glen Drive, Sausalito, at approximately 1 a.m. after following her across the Golden Gate Brdige to her home.

Sausaltio detective Sgt. James Nunes said they apparently were after $4,000 in small bills that Mrs. Pugh had had in a briefcase earlier Sunday.

THE STORY

Mrs. Pugh and her husband, part owners of a San Francisco car repair shop, had an offer from a woman in Fresno to buy a 1966 Cadillac. Her credit proved unsatisfactory so the woman offered to drive Mrs. Pugh to Fresno and pay $4,000 cash for the car.

They drove to Fresno Sunday, Mrs. Pugh got the money — all in $20 bills and smaller currency — and put it in the briefcase, then drove back to San Francisco in the Cadillac with the woman's niece and nephew.

She turned the car over to them on reaching the shop. She then locked up the money at the shop, went to dinner with her husband, then drove home still carrying the briefcase.

NOTICES CAR

She noticed a car following her across the bridge and when she stopped at her house the car pulled alongside and two men got out, one rapping on the carwindow with "something metallic" in his pocket and demanding entry.

They immediately seized the briefcase and "seemed perturbed" to find it empty. They then grabbed a currency-sized bundle on the dashboard — which proved to be a doggie bag full of bones.

They also took the coin purse from Mrs. Pugh's bag, which contained an estimated $40, to $50, and left.

Investigation of the robbery is continuing.

Prisoner Stabbed Five Times

A 30-year-old San Quentin inmate was stabbed five times this morning in the prison's segregated section, where he has been since April 16.

Roger Parish, serving six months to 10 years for grand theft in Los Angeles County, was rushed to the prison hospital at 8:15 a.m. with five knife wounds, one of which had penetrated the kidney area, Associate Warden James W. L. Park said. He was reported in good condition however.

Park said Parish had been locked in the segregated area because of debts and homosexual involvement.

A prison-made knife was removed from Parish's back at the hospital.

Park said prison officials have a suspect in custody but he declined to say more pending fruther investigation.

Parish has been approved for transfer to another institution next month, Park said. He is due for parole in October if he can complete his high school education.

First Grade Count Soars

Tomales Bay Joint Union School District trustees learned last night there may be too many first graders when school opens Sept. 11, but decided to wait until the doors open to decide what to do about it.

Supt. David L. Raffo said 31 pupils have been registered and that the state maximum is 31. "We might go over," he said.

Sale of the old Bloomfield School and 2.3 acres of land at Bloomfield, near Petaluma, was discussed but no action taken. Trustees decided to continue discussion to Sept. 18 since they could not agree on a minimum price, then ask for bidders. Bids were requested one month ago but no one responded.

Clausen Seeks Voters' Opinions On Vietnam

A questionaire now in the mail from Rep. Don H. Clausen to the people of the First Congressional District, asking their opinions on vital political issues, gives a choice on Vietnam ranging from the use of nuclear weapons and bombing of Red China to withdrawal.

Other Vietnam alternatives suggested in the questionaire include a halt to bombing in North Vietnam, a negotiated settlement of escalation. Clausen states that "the administration's policy in Vietnam today is to continue gradual but steady military escalation, including bombing of North Vietnam and sending more troops to Vietnam if necessary, in the hope that North Vietnam will agree to negotiate."

He asks whether the reader feels "that the administration is providing the public with reliable, accurate and complete information abourt Vietnam."

Other topics covered in the questionaire include gun control legislation, the War on Poverty, trade with Russia, various aspects of taxes, post offic politics, foriegn policy and Redwood Empire economics.

Quake Expert Urges Better Housing Code

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — "Californians and the rest of the United States are asking for earthquake disaster" unless better building codes are approved, a San Francisco structural engineer warned today.

Henry J. Degenkolb voiced the warning at a press conference here today. He and a team of engineers have just returned from a study of the July 29 earthquake in Caracas, Venezuela.

About 275 persons died in the temblor, Degenkolb said, 200 of whom were occupying high rise apartment buildings.

Degenkolb said residents are inviting disaster because "they have not insisted on, nor have been willing to pay for acquisition of records to enable engineers to devise better buildings codes." He called for increased staffing and funds to accumulate information on earthquakes compiled by the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Agenda Is Set

Discussion of proposed rules governing the use of recreation facilities and the proposed fall, winter and spring recreation programs, will be among topics considered by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission meeting, tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the city hall conference room, 1400 Fifth Avenue.

Permission to operate a bakery, retail shop and lunchroom at 35 Main Street was granted last night to Inga Lill Larsson by the Tiburon Board of Adjustments, accoding to Development Administrator Phil V. Scott.

Frederick G. Zelinsky was given extension of a use permit for one year to establish a restaurant and shops at 7-9 Main Street.

An application from Tiburon Townhouses Co. to construct 30 town-house units on Red Hill Circle was given the green light.

A use permit for Anthony Marelich to construct two three-unit apartment buildings at Harbor Oak Drive and Mariner Way, was continued to the Sept. 18 meeting, Scott said.

Ground Broken For Seniors Housing Project

Ground was broken yesterday to start construction of the Santa Venetia housing development for senior citizens on North San Pedro Road near Las Gallinas Valley School.

Members of the Marin County Board of Supervisors and Philip S. Ehrlich Jr., chairman of the Housing Authority of Marin, witnessed the ceremony. The authority is building the $590,000 project with low-interest loans from private sources and the Housing Assistance Administration of the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The former chairman of the authority, O. E. McNally, was honored at the ceremony for his contribution to its housing program for senior citizens. While the Santa Venetia project is the first, others are planned for Homestead Valley and Novato.

The development will have 36 one and two-bedroom apartments for persons 62 or more years old. It is to be completed in July, 1968.

Turkish tobacco is said to contain less nicotine than other varieties.

Youth Suspected Of Having Marijuana

A 17-year-old Tiburon boy was booked yesterday at Juvenile Hall on suspicion of possessing marijuana and for driving an unsafe vehicle.

Tiburon Sheriff's Deputy John O. Goff reported he stopped the boy's car at 9:20 p.m. on Tiburon Boulevard at Beach Road, because he noticed a bald tire and a red rag in the gas tank, instead of a gas cap. In the car, Goff found a small box containing what might be marijuana.

Better Not Count On Second Bridge Deck

A second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge seems to be getting no closer fast.

A few weeks ago, it appeared that the initial attack on the worsening Marin-San Francisco commute problem was pretty well spelled out: A second deck would be added to the bridge, with reserved lanes for buses; similar reserved lanes also would be added to bridge approaches in both Marin and San Francisco; the Marin County Transit District and Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District would jointly underwrite the expected losses in operation of speeded-up bus service linking the two counties.

The solution fitted in with recommendations of both the Bay Area Transporation Study Commission and State Division of Bay Toll Crossings. Both saw it as the best short-term approach to the problem of too many cars on the single highway-bridge link — though not as the ultimate solution.

HOWEVER, IT IS NOT so simple.

The bridge deck alone would cost somewhere between $35 million and $97 million, according to the very loose estimate of the bridge district. This would call for a district bond issue of somewhere between $11 million and $73 million.

But — the approaches would cost nearly a quarter billion dollars more, in funds of the State Division of Highways and the City and County of San Francisco.

The chief opposition has arisen from the San Francisco Board of Supervisors — because not only would San Francisco have to pay out over $12 million to revamp its streets, but in doing so it would upset its traffic patterns.

THE GRUMBLING was considerably more than audible at a hearing by the San Francisco supervisors' streets and transportation committee last week.

And at that hearing, chairman Thomas T. Storer of the Marin County Board of Supervisors accused bridge director Thomas D. Hardcastle of "a not-too-subtle form of blackmail" in persuading Marin supervisors to support a second deck. It was done, said Storer, as the price of assurance that the bridge district would help the Marin County Transit District underwrite the speeded-up bus operation.

Yet to be heard from is the State Highway Commission, who might have something to say about the $172,600,000 in highway funds which the Division of Bay Toll Crossings estimates would be necessary for the expanded bridge approaches.

ALL THIS MAKES it appear that the second deck may be a long way off, and the commute snarl not so near to a temporary easing as had been hoped.

It would behoove all concerned to look further at the other possibilities — rail-ferry connections, rail-tube connections, bus-ferry connections, etc. — without waiting to see what happens to the second deck.

They might even come up with a better alternative.

Johnson, Kennedy Play It Cool; Their Feelings Are Likewise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Never a nasty word between them. They're playing it cool. But the relationship between President Johnson and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy looks cool enough to be freezing.

The New York Democrat has been careful not to make any frontal assaults on Johnson and has even praised him, perhaps to pacify the President in case he thought Kennedy was out to get his job.

But to Johnson, always sensitive to criticism, having Kennedy around must be like being nudged by a hot poker. The senator has been generous with his criticism of the Johnson administration and with advice, too.

IN 1965, less than a year after going to the Senate but while his fans were thinking of him as a candidate for something in presidential 1968, Kennedy went out of his way to brush off the idea.

First, and he repeated it, he said he had no intetnion of running for the vice presidency in 1968, only expected to seek re-election to the Senate in 1970, and had no plans to seek the presidency in 1972.

Later he said he would support Johnson for re-election in 1968, adding: "I have great admiration for what the President has done here in the United States and in our relationships with countries overseas ...

"I have great respect for him and I think we agree on by far the larger percentage of major issues ... he has been an outstanding President ... and I look forward to campaigning for him in 1968."

BUT WHILE JOHNSON has gone to great pains to get the South Vietnamese to hold elections Sept. 3, Kennedy recently said those elections looked like a fraud to him.

Over a year ago Kennedy said he favored elections in Vietnam but suggested international observers should be there to see what happens. Kennedy wasn't the only recent critic on the elections. Now Johnson is sending observers.

Critics, and Kennedy was one of them, jumped all over Johnson for sending U.S. troops into the Dominican Republic in 1965 when the President said he feared Communists might try to take over.

Kennedy said he thought such a move would damage relations with the rest of Latin America. Later he said the Dominican elections which this country sponsored "rectified the damage."

KENNEDY HAS BEEN a constant critic of Johnson's handling of the war in Vietnam, and a constant adviser.

He said in 1965 Johnson should consult with Congress before sending any more troops there; urged the cease-fire at Christmastime that year be extended (Johnson extended it for a month afterward); was critical of the "escalation" of the war; called for a halt in the bombing coupled with peace negotiations within a week (this was disregarded); and thought the Viet Cong should take part in the peace talks (the administration has never agreed to that yet).

Last year Kennedy complained the administration proposal to cut funds for domestic programs made him wonder if the nation had learned anything from the Negro riots. By way of comment on that the White House said Johnson was doing all he could within the limits of "realism."

And Kennedy has made a number of proposals: that the United States develop an Asian policy "based on the reality and diversity of today's Asia"; that the United States drop its opposition to the admission of Red China to the United Nations, on the condition that Nationalist China be allowed to keep its seat there; that this country double its foreign aid to developing nations over the next few years; that there should be a massive rebuilding program in the nation's slums, complaining that more has not been done.

After all this Johnson probably doesn't feel that Kennedy, who gets great glee from shooting fast water in a raft, has done much to make him feel gleeful.

Too Late To Save Democratic Ship

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Hubert H. Whatchamacallit, Postmaster General O'Brien and Demo Committeeman Wyman have issued an S.O.S. to popularize the President and save the drowning Democratic Party.

As a frustrated Democrat over our boys both killed and wounded in Vietnam, the slaughter, destruction, billions wasted, and our world image shattered, I declare it's a bit late to save the ship. Anyway, what is left to salvage? A salvagable ship must first have a sound hull. The Demo hull is shot full of holes — its keel is rotten. Its captain and navigator has been trying to steer two directions at once — a disaster in navigation. It will take a new ship and captain qualified to steer the mandatory course to peace and sanity.

First Grader Not Ready To Spell

Editor, Independent-Journal:

An open letter to Mrs. J. Breathitt:

How can a child learn to sing a song before he knowns the tune and words; a bicycle before he learns to balance and steer; to spell before he learns to bring capital and small letters and before he knows the sounds of letters (phonics) and exceptions to phonic rules?

Very few spelling books are even written for first graders, due to studies proving first graders are not ready for formal spelling lessons. How can a six-year-old read this for instance: "How many spelling words in your list begin with the letter m?" or "How many syllables does the word family have?"

Also, when children write their own stories, research has proved that when the teacher marks up young children's papers pointing out spelling errors, she destroys their desire to write original thoughts down, for they constantly worry about spelling correctly. Usually, the teach should write down the words frequently misspelled and at another time then help them learn the words during phonics lessons or reading lessons.

It would help all parents to attend a college class on "Teaching Children To Read and Spell" and principles involved (as an auditor, it costs little or nothing), then criticize if you still feel you have reason to.

This fall, you can praise your children's papers and stories for the subject matter and at a later time show them how to spell the words.

This was written to help all parents of school children make their children's school year happier and more productive.

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Must the I.J. refer to George Lincoln Rockwell as a "right-wing leaders?" Nazi stands for National Socialism. All forms of socialism are of the left not of the right. They are all for maximum rights for government and minimum rights for people. Remember how much power the Nazis had over the people of Germanyu

Please remember that the right-wing is always for the rights of the individual, rather than for super-government' Thank you.

Do Marinites Really Want Ferries?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Recently, there seems to be some interest in your newspaper in the possibility of reviving ferry boats on San Francisco Bay as a means of alleviating the Marin commute problem.

It would seem clear that the addition of further highway and more automobiles, as in a second deck on the bridge, is intolerable as the streets of San Francisco are unable to accommodate them. The lives of school children along the route in San Francisco (Bay Street) are hourly in danger from the number of automobiles we have now.

A ferry system which would envision a large parking area near the slip in Sausalito and which would transport only passengers would not add to the traffic jam there. I am sure that that city would cooperate with bus service from the Hyde Street slip to other parts of the city.

The flaw behind such a plan that there is no powerful group to support it and push it. It is unrealistic to look to Southern Pacific in a day when that company is deliberately discouraging rail passengers and was long ago glad to be out of the ferry business and has a vested interest in Greyhound.

The bridge district board apparently has no interest in such a plan and I suppose that it is not their function to even have one.

It would be interesting to know how many Marin County people are seriously interested in the ferry system, and whether this interest would be manifested in a moral and/or financial support.

If there was substantial numbers of Marin people in favor of the idea, I suppose it would be naive in this day and age to suppose that the people could gather sufficient strength to achieve what they want. Is grass roots democracy dead? Or, perhaps it would be naive to think that the I-J could lead a campaign to bring back the ferries. Is the power of the press dead?

DILEMMAS FACING MODERN TEENAGERS

What is the biggest problem confronting today's teenagers? It is the widespread confusion between right and wrong, judging from an informal survey of young people from all over the country.

Other difficulties included the pressures of getting good grades, making early career decisions and communication barriers in the family.

Here are the words of one teenager:

"Parents should show their children, by their own example, that their 'old' moral codes are the best and later they will judge for themselves."

Another called for "better example from adults, plus consistent enforcement of time-honored rules of behavior. Obedience to these rules will develop individual responsibility, which is the key to human success. It is the only thing that has ever worked."

Most persons look for moral standards even when they are not about to follow them. The existence of such guidelines provides a point to which they can return, with the Lord's help, if they have wandered off.

"Depart from evil, and do good; so you shall abide forever."

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Labor Day Legislative Session Pleasant, Likely Unproductive

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — When the state legislature reconvenes here Sept. 4 for the new veto over-ride session, it may not have much to do.

Gov. Ronald Reagan has vetoed so far only a few bills, and none of these is expected to raise much controversy. And even if it did, no observers think a two-thirds vote could be mustered to over-ride the governor's disapproval of any measure.

However, according to the new constitution as approved by the voters last year in Proposition 1A, the legislature is required to return to Sacramento, at some expense to the taxpayers, to convene "for a period not to exceed five days, to reconsider vetoed measures."

THE FACT that the two houses agreed to come back on a national holiday, which is Labor Day, may have been a happy coincidence as far as legislative pocket-books are concerned. For the legislators not only collect mileage back to Sacramento, but also will garner the benefits of their $25 per day expenses.

Nobody expects the legislature to do much work on Labor Day. The state fair will be under way, and the horse races may prove more of an attraction than the legislative halls.

And the thought that the legislators might clean up their veto work on this holiday seems somewhat remote.

HOWEVER, the legislature may have some excuse for returning to Sacramento, as the latest word is that Governor Reagan will call a special session to straighten out the school bill, passed in the final days.

The legislature made an error in this measure, despite the fact it had several months to act on the bill. The error is technical, but if allowed to stay in the bill, could cost the state some $70 million in its appropriations to certain school districts for state aid.

Although attempts have been made to work the matter out at the administrative level, these appear to have failed, and the special session will be necessary to avoid additional subsidies to the districts from state funds.

The question arises as to when it will be called — after or during the veto session.

A SPECIAL SESSION brings some more problems, in view of the election of Milton Marks, San Francisco, to the senate. The Marks election causes an even split in the Senate, now a house with Democrats in all the key seats.

Doves In Joint Drive For Funds; Johnson Plans Campaign Party

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — A large private campaign fund is being raised nationwide to aid Senate "doves" opposing President Johnson's Vietnam policies.

Illustrative is the campaign for Senators Frank Church, D-Ida., and George McGovern, D-S.D., both of whom face tough re-election battles.

Known as the "1968 Campaign Fund," the new political money-raising committee is headed by poet-dramatist Archibald MacLeish, former librarian of Congress, who has been closely associated with peace groups for many years.

As a starter, the MacLeish group set a pre-election year goal of 150,000 for each of these senators, and is now in the process of sending out 100,000 letters as its initial fund-raising effort.

Another mass mailing will be made later to seek money on the same basis for Senators William Fulbright, D-Ark.; Wayne Morse, D-Ore.; Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska; Joseph Clark, D-Pa.; Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., and George Aiken, R-Vt. Other groups, like the ultra-liberal Committee for an Effective Congress, also have agreed to concentrate on collecting funds for the "peace-bloc" senators.

THE ANTI-WAR CAMPAIGN — Significantly, the MacLeish group is stressing three politically important points in their fund-raising letter, as follows:

1. Contributions will be needed from the whole country to finance the campaigns of these Senate "doves" because of opposition developing in their home states.

2. These senators have taken the lead in trying to force a public confrontation on Vietnam with the administration.

3. Defeat of these senators in 1968 would be a disaster to the growing peace movement in the U.S.

In appealing for funds for Senators Church and McGovern, the MacLeish group commented:

"Senate debate on Vietnam has been slow to begin — doubtless because the third greatest of American wars was never declared — and has already been spasmodic, engaging the outspoken concern of a small minority only — senators like Church, McGovern, Fulbright, Aiken, Clark, Gruening, and Nelson."

THE PRESIDENTIAL BALL — President Johnson is making his own plans to raise a huge campaign fund this year for the 1968 election.

The President's Club has the green light to hold a lavish ball in Washington Oct. 7 to honor the President and Mrs. Johnson.

Tickets for this affair, which will include dinner, will cost $1,000. More than 5,000 invitations are being sent to past and present members of the President's Club.

Decision to hold the elaborate fund-raising ball was made by President Johnson. He acted after his political advisers split sharply on whether the timing was right for such a lavish affair because of the growing Vietnam war controversy and the administration's request for a tax boost.

Encouraged by the success of President's Club affairs in California, Texas, and New York, which got the Democrats out of debt for the first time since 1964, the President decided the October ball was the most attractive way to launch the party's fund-raising activities for the 1968 campaign.

If You Want To See Marin, Ride Over The Skunkweed Hills

And there you have those long, long piers which stretch to Marin's eastern border, the Petaluma River. And there you have a neat boat launching ramp under the bridge.

And in Black Point, too, live two nut-brown boys, Dan Rama, 14, and Marc Cresta, 11, who ride the town in a pony cart.

Marc, who held the reins to his pony, Chips, said he lives on a ranch and his dad "bulldozes" in rodeos. Dan held a fishing rod which he uses as a whip. His toes stuck out of his left shoe, which had been cut open after he injured his foot (now healed).

Asked how the boys felt about the approach of school, decisive Dan replied at once, "I don't want to go." But Marc said, "I kind of want to go." As we left, their cart was flying up a dirt road in a cloud of dust.

WEDNESDAY WE WENT west over the same kind of rolling hills to the sea.

The first stop was Marshall: "Population 50. Elevation 15." It's a great place with sea gulls on pilings and boats bobbing outside Tony's Seafood Restaurant. We met Tony Konatich outside scraping a boat and his wife inside serving crab and abalone sandwiches.

One customer asked Mrs. Konatich to mix in some vinegar and oil with the mayonnaise dressing, whereupon Mrs. K. said, perplexed but kindly: "I'll bring it. You can do it yourself."

There's a new place, since February, called Schooner Cove Boat Shop, where Karl Pietsch of Germany, now of Fairfax, was making a new wood sign for the Marshall Hotel.

"How's business?" we asked and Pietsch answered: "It's fair. It could be better but I think it's due to our general tight money. Lots of people would like boats but just don't have the money."

At the white post office next to Laughlin's we met Mrs. Delores Campigli. "I'm not postmistres,s" she said. "I'm the postmaster."

In the job 11 years, Mrs. Campigli said mail has "picked up" and that the post office now has 44 boxes and " a lot are doubled up."

Vern De Mars of San Anselmo brings the mail daily from San Rafael on his star route, stops at Marshall, then goes on as far as Bodega.

THE PELARGONIUMS were bright, the air was salt, and we pushed on to Tomales and the Diekman General Store. Owner Walter H. Diekman explained he sells "everything for A to gizzard" and said the plums in baskets on the counter are "a sideline. My kids pick them. There's no spray on them," he said proudly.

Four miles and a few hills later we saw some huge rocks with a pair of lovers mooning at the bottom of one. The fog was in and there were heavy weights hanging from the utility lines to keep the wires from flying off into the wind.

We asked at Lawson's Landing the way to the Pacific Marine Station and a woman clerk said, "go right down to their parking lot. They're always interested in seeing people."

A fisherman on the beach said to follow a gray plastic pipe, used to draw sea water for marine specimens, up through the dunes to the station. There we met Dr. Edmund Smith, director. Aimiable and young for a doctor, he let us sniff the tanks and look at the sea life.

In Marin, east is west and west is east and there's nothing like riding over the skunkweed hills.

Alone Among Our Presidents, LBJ Fails To Win War Unity

Whatever else history says of LBJ, it will surely note that he is perhaps the only President who in war time failed, despite the prestige of his office, to unite us completely behind him.

Basically, we have no heart for foreign wars. In 1916 our favorite song was "I Didn't Raise My Boy To Be a Soldier," and Woodrow Wilson ran and won on the slogan, "He kept us out of war."

But once war was declared in 1917, the country closed ranks under the commander-in-chief and began singing "Over There."

IN 1940, many Americans, every bit as noble as our current doves, were all for keeping out of World War II — so many that FDR promised "again and again" not to send our boys abroad. The diary of Robert Sherwood, who wrote many of the speeches, reveals the phrase was spoken with mental reservations, but was deemed necessary if Roosevelt was to be reelected.

But with Pearl Harbor, the debate ended. The doves did not demonstrate by burning the Flag and flashing placards that damned America and praised our enemies. They joined the hawks in doing what was needed to win.

AND NOW IT DEVELOPS that even as LBJ was assailing Goldwater in the 1964 campaign as a trigger-happy madman who would send Americans into a holocause 12,000 miles away, our airmen were already in Laos strafing Communist strongholds.

But there the striking similarity to the other war presidents ends. For in re Vietnam Mr. Johnson has been stuttering and spluttering — hardly the way to unite a country, since it displays a woeful lack of faith in one's self.

You don't win a war or get the foe to the conference table by placing half of his military targets off limits to your men. Either you don't go at all — or you go all out. That's what Wilson and FDR did — but not what LBJ did.

So that, even with 500,000 men in Vietnam, the dissension widens and begins to extend to the hawks, frustrated by a no-win policy. Win or get out is their current mood.

BUT NOW, at long, long last, the President has got off the dime he was so carefully standing on, and begun to do what the military — and Barry Goldwater — urged: hit the enemy where it hurts. And now our doves cry, "Heavens! Escalation!"

What is their alternative? Well, I've been listening to some of them — and, for my money, Bobby Kennedy, Martin Luther King, Dr. Spock, Senator Fullbright and now George Romney make no more sense than Joan Baez. I grant their sincerity, but that is no answer.

Sure, get out and meet at the conference table — but how? Bobby originally thought offering the Vietcong blood plasma would do the trick. Now he says LBJ is a fine President and he will support him — probably as Romney supported Barry — but we should be thinking of how to solve the problems of the '70s. The '70s — especially 1972 — are indoubtedly a problem for Bobby, but that doesn't tell us what to do now.

Dr. King, too, says stop escalating and get out. The money we spend in Vietnam is wasted; if we gave it to Dr. King, he could arrange for us to fight over here.

Dr. Spock, too, says, "Get out." But neither in speech nor in his baby books is there an answer to the problem.

Senator Fullbright, also, says, "Let's get out." A few years ago he wanted us to get out of the Constitution, which he called an outmoded document fit only for an agricultural age. Now he says LBJ is not acting in accord with that sacred document. But not a word on how we get out and bring Ho to Geneva or Glassboro.

And now George Romney, after some hemming and hawing, joins the mee-too chorus with a brave "Get out!" — and nothing else any more definite than his Democratic cohorts.

I AM NO afficionado of LBJ, but I'm sure he would gladly stop the bombing, send the boys home, and distribute a hundred of Dr. Spock's books (autographed), a few dozen Romney buttons and practically all of Bobby's blood to the Vietcong if he thought that Ho would then waltz to the conference table to a tune by Miss Baez.

But we've tried love-ins before. And now let's keep hitting those military targets.

Drake's Bay Mural At State Exhibit

Marin County's $7,650 Drake's Bay mural will be among displays in the California State Fair county exhibit competition Wednesday through Sept. 10.

Approved June 7 by the Board of Supervisors, the exhibit features a "ghost" of Sir Francis Drake's ship, The Golden Hind, superimposed on the mural, along with five overhead lighted panels depicting recreation facilities in the county.

Boy's Leg Breaks In Bike Crash

Kenneth Tobin, son of Mrs. Patricia Tobin of 101 San Gabriel Drive, was riding east on Vista Way at 11:54 a.m. when he collided with a car driven by Howard P. Hetzner of 120 San Gabriel Drive.

Hetzner told officers he was traveling along San Gabriel Drive at 20 miles per hour and stopped his car when he saw the boy approaching. Tobin struck the front of the halted car and was knocked to the pavement, police said.

Design Regulations On Planner Agenda

The Fairfax Planning Commission will consider an amendment lessening the restrictions in its design review regulations when it meets at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Fairfax Women's Club, 46 Park Road.

The commission will also consider raising its conditional zoning and variance permit fee from $3 to $30, and will hear seven applications for variances and permits.

FINE LINE BETWEEN TRAGEDY AND SAFETY

Steer well clear of accidents this coming holiday time! With more traffic on California's roads than ever, make it your personal motto to get yourself and the family home safe and sound. You will get all the help you need from California Highway Patrol officers but only YOU can control the way you drive. Your life is in your hands. However slight a slip behind the wheel, an accident can turn a happy holiday-bound car into a tragic wreck. Better be sure today than sorry tomorrow.

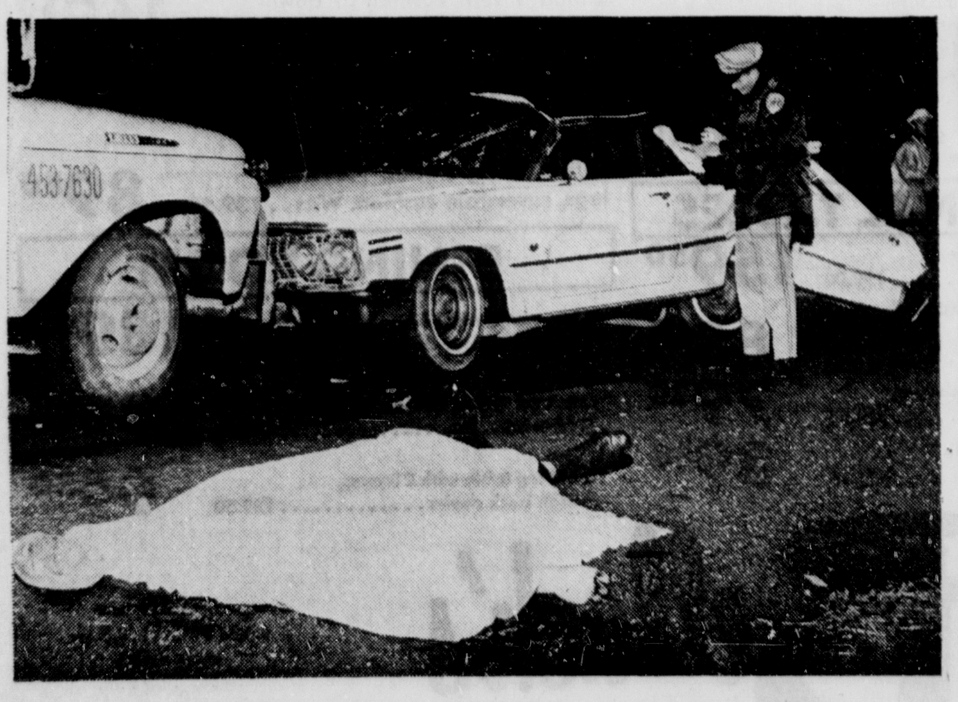
CALIFORNIA HIGHWAY PATROL



Someone crossed the dividing line from safety to death and now lies covered by a blanket beside his wrecked auto. He had been looking forward to tomorrow.

For some, an auto drive is a happy every-day experience. For others, a mistake along the way can end in injuries and long-lasting shock.

This is all that remains of what had once been a bright, gleaming car. The occupants, too, had once not a care in the world . . .

Good Old Days At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — There will be striped tents on the south lawn of the White House and from them will flow free pop corn and hot dogs and ice cream and cotton candy and soda pop and candied apples.

And, if you are from 6 to 18, and the child or grandchild of one of the nation's top officials, you will be able to toss rings, race in sacks, be amused by clowns and barked at by barkers.

The Sept. 12 event, billed by Lady Bird Johnson's press office as an old fashioned country fair "unique in White House history," will be open to 500 boys and girls.

Boulevard Paving Bids Are Opened

Ghilotti Bros. of San Rafael submitted the low bid of $41,782 yesterday for paving of 2.6 miles of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard west of White's Hill.

Three other bids were opened. W. L. Hess, associate engineer in charge of road design for the county Department of Public Works, said he would recommend to the board of supervisors that the Ghilotti bid be approved. The engineer's estimate for the job was $41,000.

The paving job, from west of White's Hill to near Meadow Way in the San Geronimo Valley, will take about a month to complete, said Hess.

Prison Inmate Gets Probation Term

Vinnie Mae Southall, 40, already serving prison time at California Rehabilitation Center at Corona, yesterday was placed on three years probation in Marin Superior Court for possession of a check with intent to defraud another.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, in pronouncing sentence, cited the defendant is already doing a seven-year term, and no additional prison time is warranted. She had a $600 check Nov. 7 with intent to defraud Hazel B. Ellis in San Rafael.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Nationwide Figures Show Why School District Budgets Rise

People are so used to school districts being in financial straits that they pretty much take it for granted; if they wonder why, they assume it is because of the constant need to build more schools for a growing population.

Some figures in a new publication of the National Education Association, "Financial Status of the Public Schools, 1967," indicate there are other reasons.

ANNUAL CAPITAL outlay expenditures by public school systems in the U. S. — the purchase of school sites and building and enlarging of schools — increased by only 50.6 per cent in the 11 years from fiscal 1955-56 to fiscal 1966-67, according to this report.

During the same period, the gross national product increased by 85.8 per cent — a considerably sharper increase than that in school buildings.

However, total expenditures for public elementary and secondary schools increased by 154.3 per cent — nearly twice as fast as the increase in gross national product.

THIS TO SOME extent reflects personnel increases necessitated by growing enrollment. Expenditures per pupil rose 92 per cent in the same period — almost at the same rate as the increase in gross national product. (In California, expenditures per pupil increased by only 78.2 per cent, though they remain above the national average.)

The tables in the NEA report indicate also that, although outlays for school buildings have not been going up too rapidly in the last 11 years, their financing has become steadily more expensive.

The interest on school debt, NEA reports, rose in the same 11 years by 332.3 per cent — nearly seven times the percentage increase in capital outlay. It is difficult to reconcile these figures. However, the heavy interest cost may reflect (1) a backlog of debt for sites and buildings purchased prior to 1955, and (2) virtual disappearance of pay-as-you-go capital improvements, so that all are now subject to interest charges. Another table in the NEA report shows little variation in interest rates on school debts over the period.

THE MOST startling increase in school costs, however, has been in an area which receives little public attention. The NEA report contains a table on "Current Expenditures for Other Programs." This covers expenditures of public school systems for junior colleges, adult education, summer schools, and "other community services."

This category of expenses, according to the NEA's figures, was up 751.4 per cent for 1966-67 over 1955-56.

This is five times the rate of increase for elementary and secondary schools.

Much of this — especially in California — is due to the growth and multiplication of the junior colleges. Along with increasing in size and number, the junior colleges have expanded tremendously in adult classes and "other community services."

TO TAKE just one example:

College of Marin, a district junior college in Marin County, this fall offers 112 adult school courses. These include the familiar English for the foreign born, citizenship training, basic English, etc. They also range through music, physical education, art, and trade courses to such subjects as "History and Appreciation of Wine" and "Keeping Your Cool in a Hot World."

Most of the basic courses offered by this junior college are duplicated by the adult schools of high school districts within its boundaries, as are some of the other courses. This duplication is typical — as is the proliferation of the junior college adult courses.

The growth of summer schools also has been spectacular in the last decade, especially in the elementary school districts. Whereas few of these offered summer classes in 1955 except as remedial courses in a few basic subjects, almost all of them now keep the doors open during the summer for all sorts of classes, both academic and otherwise. And enrollment grows steadily, as parents turn over more and more of the rearing of their children to the schools.

IT SEEMS a bit odd that, despite the growth of voluntary summer school attendance, educators continue to insist that a 12-month school plan which would enable the same school buildings to accommodate between one-fourth and one-third more pupils, is impractical and simply cannot be done.

Bay Government Group Receives Grant Of $16,000

The Association of Bay Area Governments has received a second grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development to finance comprehensive planning in the area.

Warren Schmid, executive director of ABAG, said the grant will enable his staff to develop at the regional level programs that will qualify local areas for federal funds under the Demonstration Cities Act.

Title Two of the act provides for various aid programs to local areas if their development projects are part of a regional plan.

The first $16,000 grant from HUD enabled ABAG to make studies of regional government in the Bay Area.

Texas, the oil state, had motor fuels taxes as its best single source of state revenue in 1966, at 19 per cent.

Trash Bin Use Limit In Effect

Non-residents will be barred from using Homestead Valley trash bins under an ordinance initiated last week by the Homestead Valley Sanitary District Board.

The board approved drawing an ordinance setting a $50 fine for persons living outside the district who use the containers.

The board, which met a week earlier than usual, also authorrized permanent repairs to a sewer line damaged by a landslide last winter. Temporary repairs were made after the slide.

Couple Will Study At German School

Cornelia and Whitney Gilman of Ross, who will study in Germany during the coming school year, are man and wife and not brother and sister as erroneously reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Both are graduate students at Sonoma State College , Whitney specializing in German, Mrs. Whitney in French. They will study German at University of Heidelberg and plan teaching careers.

Marin's Big Three Tries For Golf Stardom

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — One hundred and fifty of this continent's best amateur golfers tee off on the mountain-surrounded Broadmoor Course tomorrow in the 1967 U.S. Amateur tournament with Ron Cerrudo, the handsome and happy Californian, among the top contenders.

Since 1964 the 22-year-old former San Jose State student from San Rafael has been in the upper echelon of the play-for-fun set. This time he is playing on a course tailor-made for his precision style.

Giving the tournament an added sparkle of Marin luster will be a pair of talented youngsters, Don Hawken of San Rafael and Ray Leach of Novato.

Hawken, who won the Northern California junior title for the second time at Lake Merced two weeks ago, also led all qualifiers for the amateur at Merced with a 143. Leach in the same qualifying tournament had 148.

The two teen standouts have already made one trip here to accustom themselves to the climate and altitude. They arrived early this morning along with Ray's father, Albert Leach.

The Broadmoor Course, whose 6,946 yards ramble through the foothills of the Cheyenne Mountains, demands accuracy at the expense of distance. Cerrudo is arrow-straight off the tees, but his drives are only slightly better than average.

That's in sharp contrast, for instance, with Marty Fleckman, the young lumberman from Port Arthur, Tex. Fleckman, one of the longest hitters among either the amateurs or pros, is a scatter-gun.

Despite his erratic blasts, the 23-year-old Fleckman was the leader in the U.S. Open in June after both the first and third rounds, but zoomed to an 80 on his final tour.

These two youngsters, plus 23-year-old Bob Dickson of Muskogee, Okla., who is the 1967 British Amateur king, made up a powerful brigade which will try to return the title to the United States. It has been held for the past year by Gary Cowan, the Kitchener, Ontario insurance man. He is the first non-U.S. citizen since 1932 to have worn the crown and is here to defend it.

Others in the talented field who are expected to be near the top when the 72-hole medal play tournament ends Saturday are Bob Smith, another Californian who only last weekend at Kansas City took the Western Amateur title for a second straight year; cigar-chomping Bob Murphy of Lakeland, Fla., who was the 1965 champion, and Hal Underwood, another of the many recent golf gnluminaries from Houston University.

The final holes of this championship will be televised Saturday. Play begins tomorrow at 6 a.m. PDT.

Eighteen-hole rounds will be played on all four days, but the field will be cut to the low 60 and ties after Thursday play on the par 35-35—70 course.

New Orleans 'Ruthers' Are A Colorful Lot

HALO THERE — Somebody UP THERE likes the New Orleans Babe Ruth baseball team.

It has won three straight World Series titles, including the 1967 version that ended last Saturday in Anchorage, Alaska.

Novato's team, one of New Orleans' five victims at Anchorage, will tell you the Louisiana entry is a well-organized unit. And quite colorful.

BETWEEN INNINGS the boys huddle to say prayers. The closer the games, the louder and more frequent the prayers.

"If they fall behind in a game they practically pull out the rosary beads and get down on their knees," a Babe Ruth official told me.

Look, Ma, Most Valuable Prayers of the year!

"YES, WE ASK for a lot of help and we seem to get it," explained New Orleans coach Basile "Monk" Malazzo. "These are very good Catholic boys." They attend Mass en masse every morning during tournament play.

New Orleans' pitching didn't appear to be the greatest, but those boys swing bats like pros and seldom hurt themselves with mental or physical errors —a tribute to their fine coaching.

Dillon And His Rough Inning

Novato's Russ Dillon looked like one of the best and most stylish pitchers in the 10-team tournament, but New Orleans bombed him like he'd never been bombed before. When the Bayou altar boys passed the plate 12 times in the third inning, Dillon's fast balls and breaking stuff just seemed to go flat. He'll seldom be hit like that again. He's just too good. A New Orleans reporter told me: "That kid (Dillon) is the best looking chucker we've faced all year. I can't understand what happened to him in the third inning."

DILLON, INCIDENTALLY, also looked good at bat. A switch hitter, he clouted the tournament's first home run against Klamath Falls — a 360-foot skyscraper. It was a genuine Ruthian wallop.

Besides the frequent prayer meetings, New Orleans has another ritual that tickles the crowds. The 65-year-old "Monk" Malazzo, a former vaudeville comedian, celebrates each victory by dancing a little jig around home plate. Then, cap askew, he trots a slow motion journey around the bases, climaxed by a sensational slide across home plate to the roar of the crowd.

Nearer The Title, Better The Act

"The closer we get to the championship the better my act gets," smiled Malazzo. "The final game is really a doozy. But when we lose, which is seldom, I go home without wagging my tail."

Heavenly days.

MRS. BABE RUTH is a diminutive doll. She has attended every World Series in this program honoring her immortal husband and was in Anchorage last week charming the natives. She also developed a severe case of writer's cramps autographing baseballs and other souvenirs for young and old alike.

I was advised NOT to ask Mrs. Ruth her age, but her long-time friend and travelling companion, Mrs. Ethel Buckley of New York, whispered: "Why don't you just say she is nudging 70 — gently."

Mrs. Ruth Put On Pedestal

Mrs. Buckley, in fact, introduced Mrs. Ruth to Roger Maris after he hit 61 home runs in 1961 compared to the Babe's 60 in 1927. Accomplished during a longer schedule, Maris' record was given the famous asterisk treatment so Babe's record still stands unbroken.

"ROGER HAS ALWAYS been very charming to Claire (Mrs. Ruth) in spite of the bad publicity he has received," said Mrs. Buckley. "In fact, all the players have been charming and very sweet to Claire. They place her on a pedestal. They are impressed with her and, of course, we are impressed with them — great stars like Ted Williams and Mickey Mantle."

Mrs. Ruth still resides in the New York apartment she shared with her husband before his death of throat cancer in 1948.

MRS. BUCKLEY said she and Mrs. Ruth have warm memories of San Francisco Giants publicist Walter Mails. "He was at our World Series in Woodland in 1964," said Mrs. Buckley," and made one of the finest, warmest speeches in memory of Babe that I have ever heard. It was delivered from Walter's heart and was quite touching."

Autos, Gophers Have Big Night

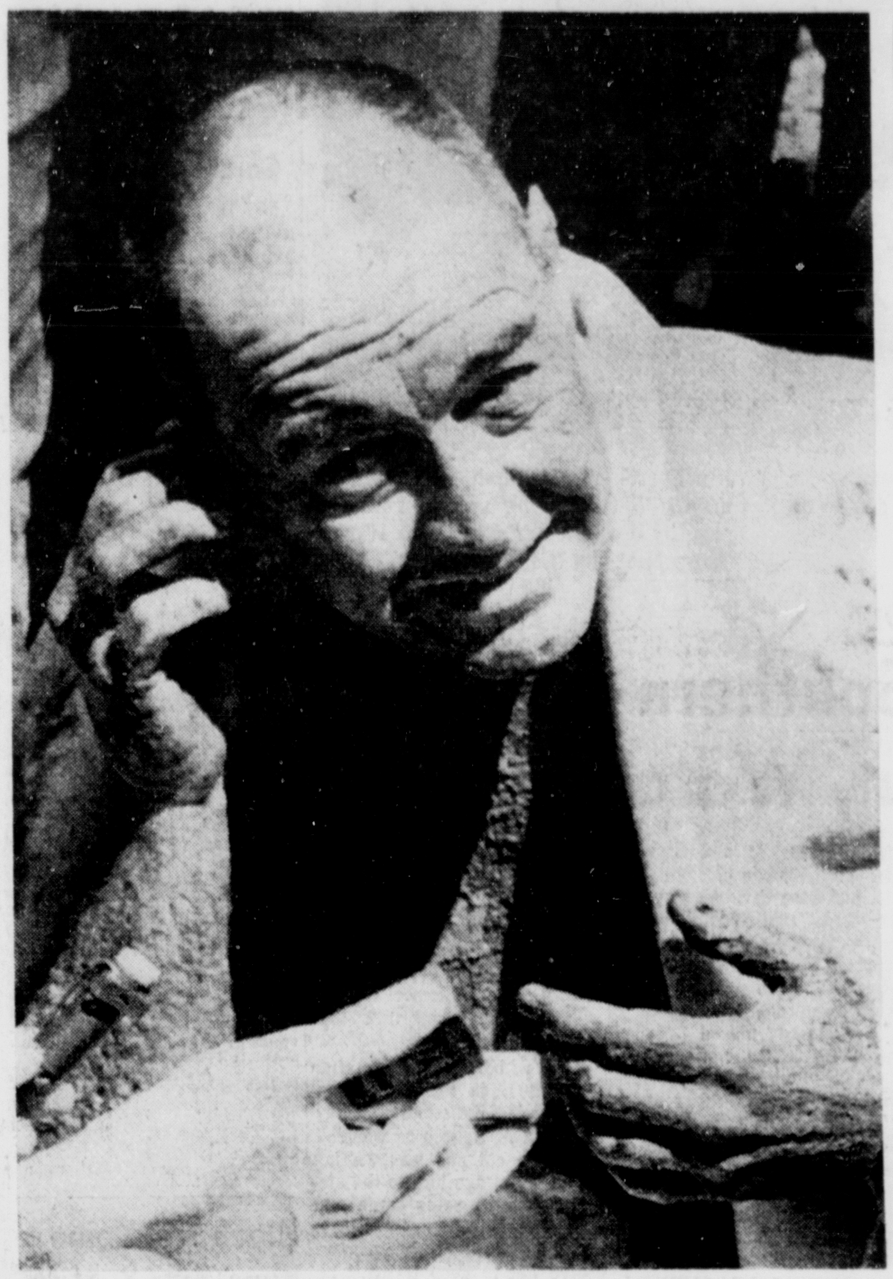
It was a banner night for Pontiacs and Gophers in the San Rafael Recreation Department's 16-Inch Slow-Pitch Softball League at Albert Field yesterday.

Dexter Pontiac thumped Fairchild 5-2 on Bob Brewer's four-hitter while E and E Pontiac ripped the San Rafael Jaycees 10-2 on Jim Chapman's three-hitter.

Meanwhile, the Harding Gophers rolled to a 6-1 win over San Rafael Firemen, although winner Frank Rollo gave up 11 hits.



HOW'S THAT — Lt. Col. Stewart Evans of the Presidio clears water from an ear as he answers questions about his historic swim from the Farallon Islands to Point Bolinas. Starting late Sunday, he crawled ashore shortly before noon yesterday after 13 hours, 45 minutes in the chilly, rough water—first person ever to accomplish the feat. (AP Wirephoto)

Evans Finished Farallones Swim On Wing And Prayer

By STEVE COOK
Associated Press Writer

A 41-year-old Army officer says he finished his historic swim from the Farallon Islands to the California Coast, inside Duxbury Reef of Bolinas, yesterday on a wing and a prayer.

Lt. Col. Stewart A. Evans, who took 13 hours and 46 minutes to become the first to swim the estimated 22 miles through icy waters, said he somehow wrenched his left arm eight hours after stepping into the ocean.

"The pain just kept getting worse," said the grey-haired, crewcut officer. "At about 10 a.m. I thought I wouldn't make it. I said a prayer and I guess it was answered."

Before wrenching his arm—he said he didn't know how it happened—he had used an Australian crawl. After that he used a side stroke.

Two hours later Evans grinned wearily as he crawled and stumbled out of the surf at Bolinas.

Members of the Dolphin Club, who swam in relays beside him, said he had covered "22 miles as the crow flies, 28 miles as a swimmer swims." They explained tides and currents had forced changes in course.

He was taken to the Army's Letterman General Hospital at the Presidio where he's stationed. Doctors put his left arm in a sling and released him at 3:30 p.m.

Sitting in a wheelchair at the hospital, his face still black with the grease which had kept out the ocean chill, the trim colonel denied his feat was at all dangerous.

"It was just hard work," he said.

While at sea Evans ate baby food and lemon gelatin, drank soda pop and took pain-killing pills to ease his aching muscles.

He said he began training last April, swimming daily at Aquatic Park in San Francisco and week nights in the Bay up to three hours.

His training and careful study of tides and temperatures paid off. Always before, cold and tides have defeated all attempts to swim from the Farallones.

Namath Facing Suit For Assaulting Scribe

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath, quarterback of the New York Jets, apparently has not heard the last of his unauthorized Aug. 3 trip to New York.

Namath left the Jets' camp at Peekskill, N.Y., without permission because of what he said was personal matters and when he returned to the team, owner Sonny Werblin said he would be fined. Later, Coach Weeb Ewbank said "action has been taken."

Now, Charles Parmiter, the sports editor of Time Magazine, has filed papers in Supreme Court alleging that Namath and two other men assaulted him in an East Side bar at 3 a.m. on the morning of Aug. 4.

Parmiter's court action, filed by his attorney, Stuart M. Speiser, asks that Namath and Murray Schaff, owner of the Open End Bar where the incident allegedly took place, reveal in court the names of two men Parmiter says helped Namath assault him. The application is returnable Sept. 7.

In a supporting affidavit, Parmiter says the incident occurred after he recognized Namath at the bar, greeted him and offered to shake hands.

"Without any warning or provocation," the affidavit continues, Namath grabbed Parmiter by the lapels, slammed his head back over the top of a cigarette machine and held him there "approximately the next 10 or 15 minutes."

Parmiter's affidavit adds that another man, who Namath called Mickey, struck him during this period and that a third man prevented others from interceding.

The complaint claimed Namath was intoxicated and that the attack was caused by Namath's dislike for the press.

"I don't need any of you $100 a week creeps to go around writing about me," Namath is alleged to have said to Parmiter.

49ers Trade Two Players For 'Picks'

There were a lot of comings and goings in the National Football League yesterday and the San Francisco 49ers joinged in the general proceedings.

The 49ers unloaded two players in exchange for future draft choices.

They sent offensive guard John Pentecost to Minnesota and rookie linebacker Ed Weisacosky to the New York Giants. Pentecost had joined the 49ers as a free agent after playing three seasons in Canada. Weisacosky, from the University of Miami, replaces Jim Toon, a defensive end whom the Giants placed on the injured waiver list.

The 49ers have lost the services of flanker Kay McFarland for the season.

McFarland underwent surgery yesterday for a fractured elbow suffered in last week's loss to New Orleans.

Coach Jack Christansen said McFarland has been placed on injured waivers. He did not know when he would be back in the lineup.

Gibbon Must Face Red-Hot Dodger

The Giants - Dodgers series may have lost some of its old lustre, but you can't say the same thing about Willie Mays.

Only 11,762 fans showed up at Candlestick park last night as the two arch-rivals opened a three-game series. It was the smallest West Coast crowd to ever watch the two teams play.

But that didn't stop the 36-year-old Mays from having some fun on the basepaths as he led the Giants to a 7-0 victory behind the three-hit pitching of Gaylord Perry.

Dodgers' rookie Bill Singer (9-4), who has won seven games in a row since the All-Star break, will oppose veteran left-hander Joe Gibbon (5-2) in the second game tonight, 8 o'clock. The Giants already have cinched the season series between the clubs, 10-3.

MAYS OF OLD

Mays acted like the "Say Hey Kid" of old by socking a two-run single, stealing a base and scoring all the way from second base on a wild pitch to spark a pair of three-run innings against loser Don Sutton, 9-13.

After singles by Tito Fuentes and Jim Davenport and a walk to Tom Haller loaded the bases in the third inning, Mays blooped a two-run single down the right field line and Willie McCovey belted a sacrifice fly for a 3-0 lead.

Davenport and Haller opened the fifth with singles to left and Sutton struck Mays with a pitch loading the bases. Mays was angered by the pitcher's sudden wildness, but enjoyed his revenge moments later.

McCovey's grounder scored Davenport, then Sutton uncorked a wild pitch. Haller easily scored from third base and Mays raced home from second, sliding hard into Sutton at the plate. Fuentes' single, Perry's sacrifice and Haller's single closed the scoring in the eighth off reliever Bob Miller.

SECOND SHUTOUT

Perry, now 11-15, never allowed more than one hit in any inning and struck out nine Dodgers in recording his second shutout of the season, and first since the opening week of the season when he blanked the Atlanta Braves.

Jim Lefebvre collected the first hit in the fourth inning, but had to leave the game after re-aggravating a hamstring muscle pull in his left leg running to first base. Wes Parker had the other two Los Angeles safeties.

Singer brings some impressive credentials against the Giants tonight. Since the All-Star break he's allowed only seven earned runs in 69 and two-thirds innings pitched for a flashy 0.90 earned run average.

Curiously, the youngster suffered his last loss against the Giants, 4-2, at Candlestick Park, July 7. Singer also is working on a string of three complete games.

JACK HANLEY

Here's A Vote For Chub To Manage Giants' Team

Perhaps Juan Marichal didn't intend to snub Herman Franks but he by-passed the manager of the Giants the other night in his announcement to Chub Feeney that he had pitched his last game of the season for the ball club.

Feeney is a suave diplomat but Marichal's announcement had to startle the vice president of the ball club a bit. Nevertheless, within 24 hrs. Feeney temporarily smoothed the situation and reported that Marichal would remain with the team for the remaining four weeks of the season.

FEENEY ALSO reported that there would be no necessity to put Marichal on the disabled list because of his ailing leg, the hamstring of which went zing in Shea Stadium on Aug. 4 while Marichal was running wind sprints.

This wasn't the first time that Marichal has by-passed the manager of the ball club to report on incapacitating injury to the vice president.

IN AUGUST of 1964, Marichal pitched with an aching back against the Dodgers. The ailing back had kept Marichal out of action from July 29 to Aug. 25. On the night of Aug. 25, Marichal lasted five innings against the Dodgers and suffered his sixth loss in 21 decisions.

After that game, Marichal, resenting the fact that Alvin Dark took him out at the end of five frames, said:

"I don't want to pitch five innings. If they want me to pitch five innings, they can put me in the bullpen."

WHEN ASKED for a comment on that statement by Marichal, Dark said: "He'll pitch again Sunday."

Well, Marichal didn't pitch on the following Sunday when the team was in Milwaukee and facing the Braves in a doubleheader.

On the team plane enroute to Milwaukee from Los Angeles, Marichal made it quite clear that only he knew how his back felt.

"I PITCH when I feel like it," said Marichal. "If it's still the same next time, I won't pitch."

Feeney was traveling with the team at the time. On the plane he said: "I'm not going to get into a discussion about this now. Alvin hasn't discussed it with me. We'll just have to wait and see what happens."

Feeney waited until the team arrived in Milwaukee and then brought Dark and Marichal face-to-face. Following that conference in Feeney's hotel suite, Marichal backed away from his statement that he would rather be in the bullpen than be a five-inning pitcher. But he told both Dark and Feeney that he really was hurting, that his back plagued him.

FEENEY DECIDED that Marichal should re-visit Dr. Harrison McLaughlin when the team reached New York. Marichal thought that was sensible.

In short order, Feeney once again had diplomatically settled a team problem. Feeney never has managed a ball club but he knows baseball inside-out. If Horace Stoneham is going to look for a new manager next year, he doesn't have to look farther than the office adjoining the president's. Stoneham couldn't find a manager in whom he would have more trust or confidence than his No. 1 trouble shooter—Charles Stoneham Feeney.

If That Southern Cooking Holds Out, Watch Rudolph

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — Mason Rudolph may yet win the $50,000 first prize in the Westchester Classic Golf Tournament—if the black-eyed peas and turnip greens hold out.

"I keep him strong on good ol' Southern cooking," said Carol Rudolph, mother of three who alternates with her baby-sitter in watching the kids and her golfing husband.

"Man, I'm tired," Rudolph moaned yesterday after posting a second round 68, four under par, for a 134 and a share of the lead with Dan Sikes, the golfing lawyer who shot a course record 62—10 under par—and lefty Bob Charles of New Zealand who had a straight 67.

"I just hope that one stays on the board," said Rudolph, one of the early finishers who had rounds of 69 and 67 wiped out by rains that forced postponements Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

"I've already played 72 holes and have a 270," the pudgy, rocky-steady Rudolph said, referring to his rained-out rounds. "I'd be happy to take that and just sit here and let the rest of them shoot at it."

But he isn't alone. Recently crowned British Open champion Roberto de Vicenzo, who had a first round 69, has posted three straight 67s—also a total of 270, but 136 officially.

The course record, incidentally, is 271.

"I'm very, very tired. Physically, not mentally," Rudolph said. "You don't expect to have a mental let-down with that much money at stake.

Sikes withdrew Saturday after shooting a 40 for nine holes, complaining of dizziness. Sunday he shot a 75, figured he wouldn't make the cut and was waiting for a car to take him to the airport when the rains came and washed it out.

"With this much money, you've got to keep trying," he said.

Frank Beard was alone at 135, after a second round 67. Five were tied at 136, including de Vicenzo. The others were young Dave Hill, with a 68; Lee Trevino, 68, U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus, 69, and South African Gary Player, 70.

Packers Hold Cowboys To Zero Touchdowns

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — It was only an exhibition but the Green Bay Packers looked as good as they did last January when they won the National Football League championship as they whipped the Dallas Cowboys 20-3 last night.

On this same field—the Cotton Bowl—Green Bay beat Dallas 34-27 for the NFL title.

Dallas had everything back, Green Bay didn't have fullback Jim Taylor. But the Cowboys couldn't even score a touchdown last night. Not since 1965 had this occurred to the high-powered Dallas offense.

The Packers played a perfect game—no pass interceptions, no fumbles. Their defense was so good crusty old Coach Vince Lombardi said, "I'm real proud of it—when you hold a team like Dallas without a touchdown you've gotta be proud of them."

BREAD AND BUTTER

He also observed that "we stayed with our bread and butter. When it stops paying off for us in January, then we'll make some changes."

The crowd of 78,087—the second largest in Dallas football history—also couldn't understand why Zeke Bratkowski was only a backup quarterback.

The big fellow from Georgia, a seven-year veteran, stepped in when the great Bart Starr had to leave in the first period because of a wrist reinjury, and proceeded to pass and run Dallas dizzy.

Bratkowski passed for a .611 percentage, he ran for 14 yards to set up a field goal, his passing sent the Packers winging on 73 and 69-yard touchdown drives and, after Herb Adderley had intercepted a pass, his running and passing set up another field goal.

RHOME CLICKS

Veteran quarterback Don Meredith of Dallas managed only 38.1 per cent on his passing, had one intercepted and three times was trapped for losses. Jerry Rhome, who is fighting Craig Morton for the Dallas backup job, did much better, passing for 71.4 with five out of seven for 111 yards and had two touchdown throws nullified.

Lucas Valley Swimmers Win Marin League Meet

Powerful Lucas Valley, champions of the regular dual meet season, made it stick again Sunday by amassing 356½ points to win the Marin Swim League Age Group Championships in College of Marin pool.

That was almost 100 points better than runner-up Marinwood with 285½ points. Next came the Marin Swim Club "C" team, 274 points; Terra Linda, 210; Tiburon, 157½; Rafael Racquet Club, 129; San Rafael "C," 113½; Strawberry, 65, and Tamalpais "C" team, seven points.

This was a non-AAU meet, with AAU-affiliated teams like the Marin, San Rafael and Tamalpais swim club represented by "C" swimmers only.

Little Jenny Carter of Lucas Valley led a record breaking assault by setting three marks in the girls eight and under division where she was high point scorer.

Scott Dicker of the Rafael Racquet Club also set three records while snaring high point honors in the boys 11-12 division.

Eric Eisenberg of San Rafael was top scorer in boys 9-10 with a pair of meet marks. Dave Newman of Terra Linda took scoring honors in boys 15-17.

Erica Sutherland, Carl Standsbury, Peter Behn, Dan Stuart, Nicky Lange, Jerry Taylor and Dave Tang also set meet records.

Other individual high point scorers were Peter Behn of Marinwood, boys eight-under; Stacy Hoffmire of Lucas Valley, birls 9-10; Judy Lindow of Marinwood, girls 11-12; Chris Demont of Tiburon, girls 13-14; Hugh Carter, Lucas Valley, boys 13-14; Nell Whitmore, Marin Swim Club, girls 15-17, and Dave Tang, Rafael Racquet Club, boys 15-17.

Coloradans Win Baseball Title

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Boulder, Colo., is the champion of the National Semipro Baseball Tournament for the second consecutive year after beating Honolulu 5-3 last night.

Boulder also set a record of 14 consecutive tournament victories dating back to an early round of the 1966 tourney.

Shortstop Frank Fuddy, the tournament's most valuable player, got a single and double, walked twice, stole three bases and scored three runs for Boulder.

First baseman Pat Kuehner drove in two of the Boulder runs.

Garland Olson (10) was thrown out at home plate to end second inning rally by Novato All-Stars against ultimate champion New Orleans in Babe Ruth World Series game at Anchorage, Alaska, last Wednesday. Olson attempted to score from second on a base hit by Dee Federick. Novato led 3-0 at the time but New Orleans rallied to a 17-3 victory. Novato later in the day was eliminated by Klamath Falls, Ore., 3-2 in 11 innings. No. 16 is Novato Coach Bob Sisemore.

Oct. 14 Is A Red Letter Day For Early-Bird Duck Hunters

STEVENS

In case you are a season opener and want to get in the first crack at waterfowl, mark a red ring around Oct. 14, the date the shooting season on wild ducks and geese opens. It will continue through Jan. 7 — 86 consecutive days. The big limits for both ducks and geese will be six birds per day and six in possession.

The duck and goose season in Northern California's Tule Lake region will conform with Oregon's, running from Oct. 10 to Jan 7. The bag limit will be five per day and ten in possession.

The Colorado River region bordering Arizona will have a duck and goose seasen the same as Arizona's — Oct. 10 to Jan. 7 with a daily bag of five birds and five in possession.

THERE WILL be a black brant season running from Nov. 18 through Feb. 18 with a four per day limit and a possession limit of eight birds.

The jack snipe season will run from Nov. 18 through Jan. 6 with a daily limit of eight snipe and a possession limit of 16.

FOR THOSE who engage in the piscatorial pursuit, there is fair news of half-pounders and salmon coming from Jim Roads, of the Klamath River Guide Service at Happy Camp. Jim sent in his first report of the season which reads: "Klamath very low and clear. Half-pounders up as far as Orleans. Scattered salmon up as far as Happy Camp. Few fish taken so far; fishing outlook will be much better in a couple of weeks. Weather warm, days: high 90s — nights high 50s. Road conditions good, and improving daily."

Regarding the exciting Kiwanis Club of Southern Marin County Fishing Derby, Palo Alto angler Al Pellizzari has taken the lead for the seven-day vacation for two in Nassau and Jamaica with a 44-pound, 10-ounce salmon. Al also copped first prize in the monthly session.

OTHER WINNERS of the monthly session were John Middelweerd of San Francisco, 20 pounds, four ounces; A. W. Karp, San Francisco, 16 pounds, eight ounces; A. F. Alzinger, San Anselmo, 12 pounds, two ounces.

Andy Wurz of San Anselmo continuted to lead with his 48-pounder in the Striped Bass Derby competing for the trip to La Paz, Mexico. The winners for the month were Warren P. Cavanaugh, San Rafael, 32 pounds, 12 ounces; Bill Liggett, San Anselmo, 27 pounds, eight ounces; Dave Horre, San Rafael, 27 pounds, eight ounces; Andy Wurz, San Anselmo, 26 pounds, 12 ounces and Horace Nishimima, Campbell, 26 pounds, eight ounces.

Fishermen are reminded there are only three months left in which to grab dandy monthly prizes, expensive rods, reels and lines, down to $10-gift certificates, or to qualify for a wonderful all-expense vacation trip to Nassau and Jamaica, or an equally wonderful trip to Mexico. Better buy a ticket from your favorite bait dealer or sporting goods store.

Cokes, Shipes Set Oakland Title Bout

OAKLAND (AP)—Two young men, described as "real nice guys who just don't say anything except with their fists," are scheduled for a 15-round fight here Oct. 2 for the world welterweight championship, claimed by both.

For Curtis Cokes, 30, recognized as champion by the World Boxing Associaton, his $42,500 guarantee will be his biggest payday in 10 years of fighting. He also will get 40 per cent of anything above a $140,000 net gate

Charley Shipes, 25, of nearby Hayward, is recognized as world champion by the California Athletic Commission—which withdrew from the WBA two years ago—and as No. 1 contender by the WBA. He is guaranteed $11,000 plus 2½ per cent of anything over $80,000.

Both the WBA and California Commission quickly approved the fight for the championship.

Cokes' manager, Douglas A. Lord of Dallas, Tex., said his biggest purses were two of $16,000 each this year.

Cokes has a 49-7-2 record.

Shipes is 32-1-2.

Lord flew here and signed a contract with Henry Winston, who is making his debut in the fight game.

Marin Swim Club Youngsters Win Age-Group Honors

Marin Swim Club members were scattered around the countryside Saturday and Sunday but it was pretty successful scattering.

Spencer Eldred, due to become 11 years old shortly, made hay at the Fresno Dolphins Invitational Swim meet with four first places including a Pacific Association AAU Record.

He won the 50-meter breaststroke for boys 10-under in 40.1, beating the old P.A. record of 40.7 and just three tenths of a second off the national mark. In addition he captured the 50 free, 50 back and 100 I.M.

Denise Ham picked up a pair of victories and also cracked a P.A. record.

Denise won the 200 I.M. for girls 13-14, then whipped to a first place in the 200 butterfly, 2:32.7, quite a bit better than the old P.A. record of 2:39.1.

Dianne Johnston copped a first and a third at the Healdsburg Memorial Meet Saturday, winning the girls 15-17 20-free and finishing third in the senior girls mile swim.

Other Marin Swim Club place winners were Roberta Shistar, Ned Johnston, Pete Locati, Robin Bachrach, Scott Bradley and Brian Hennessey.

Minor Leaguers Have Quiet Week

It was a relatively quiet week for Marinites in the minor leagues.

Both Ron Cole and Ben Burch hurled for only a couple of innings and Johnny Boccabella hit an anemic .174 in 24 at bats with Tacoma.

Cole of Mill Valley gave up two hits for Asheville, N. C., in the Carolina Class A League, leaving his record the same. Burch, formerly a standout with Marin Catholic, gave up four hits and four walks in his two-inning stint for Batavia, N. Y., in the New York-Pennsylvania Class A League.

Boccabella of San Anselmo got four hits in 23 at bats, including a double, and drove in a run.

McNulty Brothers Win At Santa Rosa

Sunday was another good day for young San Rafael quarter midget drivers Pat and Bill McNulty of San Rafael.

Pat had the second fastest qualifying time and finished third in the main event while Bill buzzed to a hot victory in the main to highlight action at the quarter-midget races in Santa Rosa.

PHILLIES LEAD

Red-Hot Runner-Up Derby

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A six-day sprint has swept the Philadelphia Phillies to the head of the pack in the National League's Runner-up Derby.

Now they're trying to drum up a match race with St. Louis swifties. . .but Manager Gene Mauch isn't looking past the next nine innings.

"We're still looking for one in a row," Mauch said last night after the Phillies edged Cincinnati 3-2 for their eighth straight victory . . . and displayed the first symptoms of pennant fever.

The Phils' winning streak has vaulted them from sixth to second place in less than a week. They lead the Reds and Chicago Cubs by one percentage point. . .but trail the league-leading Cardinals by 11 lengths.

St. Louis divided a doubleheader with New York last night, taking the second game 6-0 behind ex-Met Jack Lamabe after the tailenders had won the twilight game 4-2 to break an eight-game losing string.

San Francisco pelted Los Angeles 7-0, Pittsburgh nipped Atlanta 4-3 in 10 innings and the Cubs shaded Houston 6-5 in other N.L. games.

Minnesota topped Baltimore 3-2, Boston blanked New York 3-0, Washington stunned Chicago 2-1, Detroit buried California 10-0 and Cleveland outscored Kansas City in 11 innings 8-7 in American League play.

John Callison's 13th homer snapped a 1-1 tie in the sixth inning at Cincinnati and the Phils added another run on a bases-loaded balk by Gerry Arrigo on the way to their 21st triumph in 29 starts.

But they needed four innings of scoreless relief from veteran Dick Farrell to keep the streak alive after the Reds closed the gap in the bottom of the sixth on Pete Rose's single, Lee May's double and a ground out.

The save was Farrell's seventh in 44 relief efforts this season.

"Our pitching since the All-Star Game has been great," Mauch said. "Farrell and Dick Hall have been doing fine.

"I've known Farrell for many years and I believe he's pitching the best ball I have ever seen him pitch. He pitches and thinks. Before he just used to pitch."

The Philadelphia pitching staff has allowed only 10 runs during the eight-game skein, with Rick Wise, Larry Jackson and Dick Ellsworth, last night's winner, each picking up two victories and Jim Bunning and Chris Short dividing the other two.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Sell Or Exercise Expiring Warrants

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I own Sperry Rand warrants. They have moved up considerably in price since I bought them and I would like your advice as to the disposition of them." E.E.

A. Sperry Rand warrants expire Sept. 15, 1967, and should be exercised or sold prior to that date, after which they are worthless. I don't like to hedge, but in this instance the decision depends largely on your circumstances and investment objective. These warrants sell at just about their conversion value. If your outlook is conservative and you want more assured growth, I would sell the warrants and reinvest the proceeds in Radio Corp. If you can afford a certain amount of risk, I would exercise the warrants to buy Sperry Rand. The stock seems no longer cheap, but I consider it a relatively good longer-term speculation on forther profit gains in the Univac Division.

Q. "I am 48 years old and have been in the restaurant business. I have been considering a change in my profession and would like to become a stock broker. Where can I go to school to learn this business and how long would it take? Is there any age limit for a brokerage job?" L.L.

A. You have a good deal of courage to attempt to change vocations in your middle years. The only practical way to learn the brokerage business is to get a job with a firm which has a training course for registered representatives. It will probably take you six months to a year to complete such a course. There is no fixed age limit for employment.

Third Longs Store Opening In Northgate

Longs Drug Stores will open its third Marin County outlet in a year tomorrow in unit three of the Northgate Shopping Center at 9:30 a.m.

The first Longs store in Marin was opened in Novato in August, 1966. Last January another store was the pacesetter for the opening of the Red Hill Shopping Center, San Anselmo.

The Northgate facility has approximately 20,000 square feet. It's larger than the San Anselmo store but slightly smaller than the one in Novato. It features a large prescription department, cosmetics department, photographic department, liquor and beverage department and other departments handling greeting cards, clothing, soft goods, household needs, stationery, appliances, tobacco, candy and notions.

The new installation has multizone air conditioning, automatic doors, background music and modern display accessories and fixtures.

The store will be managed by Al Wilent, with the company eight years, and recently assistant manager at the San Pablo store. He and his family recently moved to San Rafael. He will be assisted by Robert O'Riley, who has been assistant manager in Modesto. He and his family have moved to Fairfax.

The company was founded in 1938 by Joseph and Thomas Long in Oakland. Since then stores have been opened throughout Northern and Southern California and in the Hawaiian Islands. Another store is scheduled to open soon in Santa Rosa.

Longs is the second major store to be opened in Northgate Shopping Center's new unit three, located between the Emporium and Highway 101, off Las Gallinas Avenue. It follows by three weeks the opening of a Lucky Store.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Gourmet Delicatessen To Open At Northgate Shopping Center

Hoping for an opening of their new delicatessen, International Gourmet, in unit three of Northgate Shopping Center by Friday are Michael Berges and Robert Lehto. Their place, at 430 Las Gallinas Avenue, is in the same complex with Lucky Stores and Longs Drug Store, scheduled to open tomorrow.

Berges and Lehto have been principals in the Skycrest Delicatessen on Skyline Boulevard, San Bruno, but I understand they have withdrawn from that operation.

International Gourmet will feature an extensive line of meats and cheeses, imported delicacies, wines and beers. An off sale wine and beer license has already been issued.

Kerns and Walker Cleaners would like to open here between Sept. 7 and 15, and Hunt's Quality Donuts is aiming for around the first of October. The Hunt's store in Northgate unit one will continue in operation.

Fred Esparza has already opened his latest barber shop here.

Still to follow are Goodyear Tires and Batteries and Lyons Restaurant.

MARIN UPHOLSTERY, San Rafael, has been getting an exterior refinishing job by Mazza Painting Co. and merchants along Fourth Street are pleased to find there's a color change from red to green and white. Final decorating touches will probably include Arizona field stone in the lower facing.

Commencing Friday the upholstery shop will be closed for vacation. It will open again Monday, Sept. 18. Arthur Deiters and wife Elaine are touring nine states.

W. JAMES WASHBURN JR. of Tiburon has joined California Canners and Growers, San Francisco, as a financial analyst. He was formerly with Crown Zellerbach Corp. as a marketing analyst.

DR. CHARLES A. BAYNE of San Rafael has joined the staff of the Shell Development Co. Emeryville research center as an engineer in the chemical engineering department. A graduate of University of Detroit, he obtained his master's and doctorate degrees in chemical engineering at the John Hopkins University.

DON S. MOZLEY of Alto, director of news and public affairs for KCBS, has been reelected a national director of the Radio-Television News Directors Association. He has been on the board many years and has also served as western regional vice president and vice president for radio.

FOUR MEMBERS of New York Life Insurance Co. in Marin have qualified as members of the company's 1967 Top Club: Arthur P. Brody and Jack R. De Bruin of SanqRafael, Edward R. Middendor of Mill Valley and Bernard R. Whitehill of San Anselmo. They will attend the company's educational conference at Sun Valley, Idaho.
